Ministers and School Teachers Back Police In Burbank Row, Claim

A MEETING that has precipitated a municipal upheaval in Burbank, and divided the city into warring camps, was held last night in the rooms of the Good Fellows' club, in the Victory building, on San Fernando boulevard.

The gathering was called a "civic pride summons" and was sponsored by the Good Fellows, Kiwanis and other local clubs and organizations, irate over the haling of four prominent merchants before Police Judge A. A. Crawford yesterday, on charges of selling cigarettes to minors.

Resolutions were adopted calling for the dismissal of Chief of Police John H. Long and his entire staff. Other resolutions were adopted, full report of which will be found elsewhere on this page.

Police Chief Long, in defense of his position, today issued the following statement:

"The churches and the schools of Burbank are all behind us in this matter, which is simply a crusade against violators of the cigarette laws, speed laws and other statutes.

"The ministers are holding a meeting this afternoon, to back up the police department. And the High school authorities, who started the campaign in an effort to check the sale of cigarettes to boys under eighteen years of age, are solidly back of us.

"We are not trying to check the growth of Burbank but are simply endeavoring to prevent the violation of specific laws.

"In obtaining our information regarding the selling of cigarettes to minors, we played no favorites. Neither did we make any arrests. We simply requested the four established violators of the law to appear before Judge Crawford. We did not compel them to come. They came voluntarily and we did not fine them or impose a penalty of any sort, merely issuing to them a warning to obey the law.

"We are acting in line of duty, as the police department of Burbank, upholding the law and discouraging "violations of the law. That we conceive, is what we were hired to do."

VISIT NEW HOME OF GAS COMPANY

Officials Make Inspection of $45,000 Building Erected Here

The Southern California Gas Company's new $45,000 building at 124 North Maryland avenue was inspected last night by general officers and district managers of the company all of whom expressed the opinion that it is an asset to Glendale.

Sidney S. Singer, local district manager, was host at a banquet at 201 East Harvard street, following which he took pleasure in taking his guests through the new district headquarters.

A. B. MacBeth of Los Angeles, general manager, expressed his pleasure that the company had been able to put up a building of his type to meet the needs of Glendale. He stated that the faith of company officials in this community is emphasized not only by their local investment but by the calibre of the men whom they have stationed in this district.

Recalls First Meter

F. J. Schaeffer of Los Angeles, assistant general manager, stated that he could remember when the company had installed its first meter in this district about fourteen years ago. He commented with amazement upon the growth of Glendale.

A. E. Peat of Los Angeles, treasurer, expressed his opinion that the chief reason for the success of the company's present issue of preferred stock was because of the co-operation between its employes and consumers, especially in the San Fernando valley.

Especial interest was taken by the visitors in the arrangement and appointments of the local headquarters which combines a garage, shop and office building They called attention to the fact that this combination provides for efficiency in providing consumers with any amount of attention.

Among other general officers present were A. C. Johnson, auditor; T. J. Rotheroe, general agent; and F. C. Ingram, commercial superintendent. There were about forty other company officials.

COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER SPEAKER

Dr. John L. Pomeroy Tells Kiwanis Club About Department Work

Dr. John L. Pomeroy, county health officer, was the speaker yesterday noon in the banquet room of the Tuesday Afternoon Clubhouse, at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Kiwanis Club.

Special music for the occasion was furnished by Adeline Woodbury, small daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Woodbury. She played four saxophone solos which were well applauded. Miss Pansy Corp was the accompanist.

A red or white carnation was worn by each member of the club in honor of his mother. President A. L. Ferguson urged those wearing the red carnations to be as thoughtful as possible of their mothers because of the fact that sooner or later they will be wearing white carnations.

Dr. T. C. Young commented on the fact that Mrs. Rebecca Morse Bradley of 920 East Harvard street, whose funeral was held yesterday afternoon, was a cousin of Francis Scott Key, author of "America." He had on exhibition an original autographed transcript of the national anthem.

Open With "America"

"I thought this would be of considerable interest to the Kiwanis club," he remarked, "because every Kiwanis club in this country opens with the singing of America."

Shortsightedness of the public at large in regard to preventative measures relating to public health was condemned by Dr. John L. Pomeroy, who remarked: "It is a fact that in a democracy we leave the law making to the lawyers and suffer the consequence."

Because of the fact that there are forty incorporated cities in Los Angeles county, each of which has jurisdiction over its own municipality in public health matters, and 157 school districts, each of which is jealous of its authority, Dr. Pomeroy admitted that it is almost impossible to develop a county health department which would be capable of dealing with an emergency. He said that the problem was further complicated by technicalities over taxation.

"We are not prepared to pro-

New Disclosures in Poison Pen Scandal

NEW YORK, May 12.—Further sensational disclosures of the "poison pen" scandal in which slanderous letters were sent to at least 150 prominent men and women, loomed today when the district attorney's office admitted that only part of the grand jury's investigation had been disclosed.

The grand jury's investigation resulted in the indictment of George Maxwell, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors' and Musicians' association and other organizations.

Four I. W. W. Will Be Sentenced Tuesday

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Sentence for violation of the state criminal syndicalism act will be pronounced Tuesday on four of the 13 I. W. TRIBUTE FOR MOTHER TO BE GIVEN BY CITY

All Glendale to Pay Honor to 'Best Friend on Earth' In Annual Event

"Mother!" That magic word which brings to the minds of all of us our own mother, is to be written across the hearts of Americans tomorrow by sweet and tender memories, for it is to be Mothers' Day.

Whether the six letters sketch a quaint old-fashioned mother of four score years or more, with hair whitened by years and shoulders bent by age; or the gay, youthful mother of the Twentieth century, watching over a pink-cheeked, curly-headed babe, the spirit of motherhood is just as beautiful, and those to whom she belongs will pay tribute to her as goddess of their hearts tomorrow.

Wear White Carnation

For some a simple white carnation worn on the coat lapel and cherished throughout the day will bring back happy associations with a mother whose face and form are but memories. For the more fortunate the day will provide opportunities to wear a red carnation in tribute to a living mother, spending the day with her, if she is near, or sending her messages and gifts of love and loyalty if she be far away.

On Mothers' Day all Americans are united in a mutual interest, their hearts joining in the silent pledge:

"This day is my mother's day. I shall think of her suffering, sacrifice, love and thoughtfulness for me and let these memories combine in a great guiding influence for my life. If she be living I shall wear a red carnation for her, and, if she be near, spend the day with her. If she be dead, a white carnation shall pay her tribute, and in her memory I will endeavor to bring happiness to some mother who has no one to remember her."

Glendale Observes Day

Already Mothers' Day has been celebrated in Glendale. In the school rooms it has been hearlded in prose and poem, and local clubs have anticipated it in their programs.

At the Kiwanis club meeting yesterday every member and guest wore a carnation for his mother, and Dr. John Anderson read a poem in tribute to motherhood.

In Glendale churches tomorrow there will be sermons and music in observance of the day and in every home there will be some recognition of the annual event.

On Monday night Glendale Elks are to have a mothers' program following the regular lodge session. Every Elk will wear a carnation on his coat lapel and enjoy a musical program by the Hollywood women's quartet, led by Miss Myra Belle Vickers and Albert Bryant.

Harding to Deliver One Speech on Court

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Harding plans to deliver but one, possibly two speeches, bearing on the international court issue on his forthcoming trip across the continent, it was said today by those who have discussed plans with him.

The news is highly gratifying not only to those Republican senators who are bitterly opposed to American adhesion to the court, but also to many of the party's rank and file of "regulars" who were apprehensive lest Mr. Harding's forthcoming speeches widen the already sizeable breach that exists in the party on the court issue.

Eight, possibly ten, major speaking dates will be accepted but the itinerary is yet in the formative stage, despite the several "itineraries" already published.

Harding Asks Return Of Hammer Murderess

SACRAMENTO, May 12.—Formal notification that President Harding has asked the extradition of Mrs. Clara Phillips, escaped Los Angeles hammer murderess, and authorized Under-Sheriff Eugene W. Biscailuz and Mrs. Willette Biscailuz of Los Angeles to return the "tiger woman" from Tegucigalpa, Honduras, was received today by Governor Richardson.

HEROISM IN ATTACK IS SHOWN BY SERVANT

French Girl Carries Flag of Truce Under Fire of Chinese Soldiers

SHANGHAI, May 12. — A French maid employed by Miss Lucy C. Aldrich, sister-in-law of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., proved the heroine of the train raid when many foreigners were seized by Chinese bandits near the Shantung frontier, said a despatch from Tsinan-Fu today.

The maid is Mlle. Schloborn, an orphan. When the train was attacked in the dead of night she maintained her presence of mind. She hid a diamond bracelet, a solitaire and a wallet filled with money under the seat of the Aldrich compartment. She did not have time to dress before the brigands broke into the compartment.

Clad only in her night gown, Mlle. Schloborn was driven with the other prisoners toward the distant mountains. Her companion was a Mexican woman.

"We walked and walked through the darkness," said the maid. "It was very cold and the way was rough and hard upon our bare feet. The Chinese kept urging us forward at top speed. They were in a great hurry.

Attack Is Opened

"On Monday the soldiers attacked. The bandits' chief demanded a volunteer to carry a white flag and to visit the commander of the troops to tell him that the prisoners would be tortured and put to death unless the soldiers retired.

"I remember well that I was sitting down when a Chinese who could speak English called for some one to carry the flag. Miss Aldrich and Minnie McFadden, her companion, were not with me. I did not know what the bandits would do if the soldiers kept on firing. I was desperate so I jumped up and said I would carry the white flag.

"I told Mrs. Naill: 'My mother is dead. I am all alone in the world. I am devoted to Miss Aldrich, and if I can save her life I am willing to try.

"The Chinese gave me a man's underwear, a suit of B. V. D.'s, to wave in the air. I climbed around the rocks on the mountainside and raised the 'flag' little by little. The bullets whizzed by my cheek and passed through the throat of a bandit behind me. He dropped dead.

Faces Rifle Fire

"The bandits crawled forward and forced me out in the open. So I began to make my way down the mountainside. For 20 minutes I was continuously under fire, but miraculously escaped being hit.

"The regular soldiers saw the flag and quit firing. I tried to find my way towards the soldiers' headquarters, but I felt so tired I just wanted to drop in my tracks. The mountains looked like the Alps. I did not believe that any human being could climb over them.

"I was so weak and sick that I finally gave up. I fell to the earth and huddled up in my tracks. I was just lapsing into unconsciousness when I felt a tap on my shoulder. There was a soldier standing by me. He put his finger upon his lips, warning me to be quiet. Then he led me to the commander and I delivered my message."

Continue Plans to Rehabilitate China

WASHINGTON, May 12. — Recent disturbances in China involving foreigners, will not interfere with the continuation of the work of Chinese rehabilitation started by the Washington conference, it was announced at the state department today.

One of the changes yet to be accomplished—the abolition of the extra-territorial courts of foreign governments in China—will be considered at a conference in Peking on November 1. Invitations to the conference have been issued by the United States to Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

Miss Marie Oliver Has Every Talent and Charm For Exposition's Queen

MISS MARIE OLIVER, CANDIDATE FOR QUEEN

Charming Glendale girl, is backed by Shrine Club to preside over Merchants' Exposition. She has, her friends declare, all the qualifications for the position and they are giving her hearty support.

Resident Of Glendale Practically All of Her Life; Prominent In Amateur Theatricals and Musical Circles

YOUTH, beauty, charm and talent are four good reasons why Miss Marie Oliver of 1314 North Central avenue would preside with queenly grace over Glendale's industrial exposition, and the fact that she is the candidate of the Shrine Club assures a record vote in her favor.

Miss Oliver has been unanimously adopted by the Shrine Club as the club candidate and with that organization back of her 100 per cent the realization of her election begins to loom up as the feature of the election.

When a small girl Miss Oliver came to Glendale and it was in the Glendale schools that she grew up and developed her musical talent, which now promises to give her a successful career.

Talented Artist

As an undergraduate and postgraduate of the Glendale Union High school Miss Oliver created the long remembered leading parts in "The Little Typhoon" in 1920, and in the "Chimes of Normandy" in 1921.

Her most recent appearance behind local footlights was in the leading part in "Smile Again," the Shrine Club benefit.

Upon leaving the local high school she was a student for two years at the University of Southern California, where she continued her piano and vocal work at the college of music.

She is one of the most talented pupils of John Smallman of Los Angeles, and Mr. Smallman is planning to present her formally to Los Angeles in a concert program in June.

In addition to her natural beauty, charm and talent Miss Oliver's university work, intense musical study and social activities have given her a poise and grace so desirable in the young woman whom Glendale chooses to be queen of the city during the exposition.

May Hold Festival In Masonic Temple

In the event that the weather tonight turns out unfavorably, the strawberry festival that is to be given by the White Shrine on the lawn of the Frank Bourne home, at 203 West Maple street, will be held in the Masonic Temple, on South Brand boulevard. It is hoped, however, that nothing will interfere with the plans as already made, as it is felt that the enjoyment of the affair will be greatly enhanced by holding it out of doors.

Next week, the last of the legislature, will be devoted to senate bills, and the senate session to assembly bills.

BUILDING FOR THIS YEAR BREAKING RECORDS

Averages Over $200,000 For Each of Nineteen Weeks of 1923 So Far

THE four million dollar mark for building permits issued so far this year was passed at 11 o'clock this morning, making an average of over $200,000 for each of the nineteen weeks of 1923.

This total exceeds by $153,256 the total of $3,846,744 for the first eight months of last year. It exceeds by $1,277,103 the total of $2,722,897 for the first five months of 1922.

Total for the month so far amounts to $337,015. This sum exceeds the entire total for last May of $244,788 by $92,227. It is estimated that this month will show about twice the amount of building as last May.

The total for the year 1923 to date is $4,000,087, it is announced.

Glendale is now only $2,278,566 behind its entire total of $6,278,566 for last year.

It is only $1,099,201 behind the entire total of $5,099,201 for 1921. It has already exceeded by $863,336 its total of $3,136,664 for 1920.

A comparison of the fisrt four months of 1922 and 1923 is as follows:

Jess Willard Comes Back By Scoring Knockout on Floyd Johnson in Eleventh

NEW YORK, May 12.—Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion of the world, came back to greater renown this afternoon, even greater than he had ever know as a title-holder, by scoring a clean knockout at the end of the eleventh round with Floyd Johnson, of Iowa, in the feature bout of the Milk Fun show. A terrific right uppercut to the jaw finished Johnson, just as the bell rang ending the eleventh round. The victim was dragged to his corner by his seconds.

The Iowan was completely out and was unable to respond for the twelfth round. His seconds announced defeat by tossing in the sponge. The affair will go down in the records as a technical knockout but it was more actual than technical, Johnson remaining in his corner for ten minutes after the end of the bout. The knockout came only a few moments after Johnson had been slammed to the floor by a right to the head. This was the second of two knockdowns Willard scored previously to the actual knockout. Willard's showing completely dumfounded those critics who claimed that the middle-aged ex-champ would be unable to come back after the Toledo disaster of four years ago when Jack Dempsey stripped him of his title.

Although the run of the fight varied considerably from round to round, Willard was in the lead on points. He not only carried the second, fifth, sixth, eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh rounds on points, but when he did land he scored so heavily as to leave no doubt.

Under a blazing summer sun which was a marked contrast to the intermittent rain of the early afternoon, the great milk fund program of boxing was conducted this afternoon in the presence of more than 60,000 persons. They were drawn to the spectacle by the worthiness of the charity involved and the fact that Jess Willard made his first appearance in the ring since his historic defeat by Jack Dempsey, July 4, 1919.

Willard met Floyd Johnson in the principal bout of an all-star show which included among its remaining features fights between Luis Firpo and Jack McAuliffe, II, Fred Fulton and Jack Renault, "Tiny Jim" Herman and Al Reich, and Harry Drake and Joe McCann.

At five minutes of 3, Harry Drake and Joe McCann, principals in the first bout, entered the ring.

Drake, who is Willard's sparring mate, was announced as weighing 185 pounds and McCann as 202.

Drake Gets Decision

Drake got the decision at the end of four rounds and earned it. McCann rallied in the last round and tried hard for a knockout, but the other was too fast for him.

Al Reich, weighing 206 pounds, and Herman at 202½ pounds, were the next pair to climb through the ropes.

Reich did not last out the sixth round, going out flat on his face after less than a minute of fighting after a series of lefts and rights to the jaw. Just at the county of ten he attempted to rise

Jack Peebles of 126 North Cedar street has received word from his brother, William Peebles, who left this city, with his family, three weeks ago for Westminister, British Columbia, stating that they had reached their destination. Mr. and Mrs. Peebles spent the past winter in this city.

Mrs. Gladys Stewart, for many years a resident of Glendale, but now living in Los Angeles, and John Dean of Santa Fe Springs, were guests last evening of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold des Plantes of 312 East Lomita avenue. Mrs. Stewart is the soloist for one of the large Los Angeles churches.

Mrs. E. U. Emery and Miss Clive Belle Emery of 329 North Kenwood street, who have been confined to their beds for the past several days, are now much improved and are able to sit up part of the time. This will be good news to their many friends, who hope to see them out in the very near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wachter and daughter Lucy of Toledo, O., who were the guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Wright of 141 North Louise street, left yesterday for the Yosemite valley for a pleasure trip. The Wachters have been wintering in southern California, making their headquarters at Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward M. Lynch of 408 North Jackson street, had as dinner guests Thursday night at the Jonathan Club in Los Angeles, Dr. and Mrs. Fred Wood of Berkeley. They later attended "The Covered Wagon" in Hollywood. The Woods have been spending a week with relatives and friends in Pasadena and Glendale.

Mrs. Eugene R. Tousley of Jacksonville, Florida, arrived in this city on Wednesday of this week and is visiting at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Gilbert of South Louise street. After spending several weeks here Mrs. Tousley will return to her home by way of San Francisco, Salt Lake City, Denver and St. Louis.

Rev. and Mrs. Ralph W. Munson of 704 East Chestnut street are having the pleasure of entertaining as their house guests their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Munson and family who have just returned from Java where they have been working in the missionary field. They will remain here several weeks before returning to their missionary work.

C. M. Pomeroy of 1212 East Windsor road arrived home on Friday morning, and will remain in Glendale three days, when he will leave on Monday to resume his duties as traveling salesman for a large manufacturing concern in the east. Mr. Pomeroy's territory extends over the entire Pacific coast, and his work necessitates his absence from home about eight months in the year.

Mrs. Julia Hoopes, of 1300 South Central avenue, entertained informally at dinner recently, her guests being Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Young of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. George Hibbern, Mrs. M. J. Noel of Casa Verdugo, and Mark Buchanan of Glendale. Mr. Young is the engineer on the new state highway to the Imperial valley, which has been in the process of construction for the past three years.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Learned of 1549 Glenwood road are expecting the arrival of their son and daughter-in-law, Rev. and Mrs. Willard Learned, from Indianapolis within the next few weeks. Both Rev. and Mrs. Learned are well known in this city, having attended the Glendale high school a number of years ago. They are planning to sail for Africa the next year, where they will serve as missionaries.

Mrs. Sophia Metzger of 356 West Harvard street recently entertained as her guest a nephew, Fred A. Rakestraw of Philadelphia. Mr. Rakestraw was also the guest of his brothers, Harry and Lewis Rakestraw, who recently came from Toledo, Ohio, and are residing now at 356-A West Harvard. Mr. Rakestraw has been spending several weeks at the Hotel Maryland at Pasadena and leaves tomorrow for San Diego and other southern California cities where he will visit before returning to his home in Philadelphia.

Marian Letts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Letts of 450 West Lexington drive, left Wednesday with her aunt, Mrs. C. A. Cunningham for Santa Monica where they will spend two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Leppelman of 357 Milford street are having the pleasure of entertaining as their house guest, Mrs. Joseph G. Allyn of San Diego. She arrived here on Thursday and will remain for several weeks.

George Bentley, John Bentley and Park Arnold, of the Bentley Lumber Company, and Elmer Elliott and Tom Brown left yesterday for Big Bear on a camping and fishing trip. They are expected to return home tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Leggitt of 1118 East Wilson avenue, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. A. York and Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Moore, left early this afternoon for Mt. Lowe for a short pleasure trip. They will return to their homes late this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Evans of 333 North Orange street were guests recently of Mr. and Mrs. Merritt of Santa Monica, when they entertained with a dinner party at the Ambassador hotel in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Parker, of 624 North Brand boulevard, are having the pleasure of entertaining as their house guest, their cousin, Miss Margaret D. Reading of Frankfort, Ky. Mrs. Parker is also expecting another cousin to make them an extended visit, Mrs. R W. Covington of Bowling Green, Ky. Mrs. Covington is expected to arrive the latter part of the week.

Laguna Beach will be the destination of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Phelps of 1651 Gardena street and a party of friends and relatives who have been wintering in southern California. Those who will enjoy the outing are Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Phelps, H. H. Phelps of Glendale, Mrs. John Hibbard of Helena, Montana, Mr. and Mrs. Merle Barner, Miss Lena Barner, Chas. Barner, of Michigan, who have been in Huntington Park for the winter, Dr. Ella Heise and Miss Bertha Heise of Hollywood.

SYLVAN VIEW IS NEW SUBDIVISION

Wernette & Hellyer to Offer Famous Edwards Ranch To Home Seekers

The last piece of land in Glendale's exclusive residential section is to be subdivided into some of the choicest homesites in the City. Edwards Ranch, long famous, as one of the scenic points, adjoining Brand's famous estate, has at last succumbed to the persistent offers of the particular homesite seeker, and is now being placed on the market in ideal homesites, ranging in size from the regulation 50 foot lot to, in some instances, 1-3 and 1-2 acre pieces.

"There is only a very small piece of this property to be subdivided," said J. I. Wernette of Wernette & Hellyer, owners and subdividers of Sylvan View, the new subdivision. "Every lot that we are offering is one of the choicest obtainable in Glendale today. Not only is the view unsurpassed, overlooking as it does, the city, the entire valley, the mountains and surrounding heavily wooded estates, but Sylvan View in itself is a thing of beauty, being completely covered with large, bearing fruit trees such as peaches, apricots, walnuts, olives and grape vines."

700 Foot Elevation

"The elevation is 700 feet above sea-level and affords one of the most acceptable and likeable climates, the year round, in Glendale. The entire tract lies North of Kenneth Road and fronts on Tenth Street.

"Sylvan Heights is the last piece of property to be subdivided in close vicinity to the famous Braud's Castle and is therefore naturally in great demand. We have only 35 of these choice homesites for sale and it is conservatively estimated that we will be entirely sold out a few days after our opening. When it is taken into consideration that the thousands who are coming to Southern California are on the look-out for exclusive homesites, the profit making opportunities for today's buyers are easily appreciated. In addition to offering Sylvan View homesites at prices away below the value of most adjoining property we, as owners, are able to offer a bonus of $100 to the first ten buyers. This offer in itself represents a profit of nearly 25% in actual money invested. In addition, we are offering buyers their own terms. They can either make a small cash payment and a small monthly payment or a little larger cash payment and no further payments for two years. Anyway you look at it Sylvan View buyers are getting the advantage of low purchase prices for property that has been in demand for years and should undoubtedly command large prices in a very short time.

"Suitable building restrictions will be imposed in order to make Sylvan View the most exclusive section for miles around. The man who buys for a homesite or an investment is undoubtedly in line for a handsome profit on his money. The improvements on this property are said to be worth half the price at which lots are being offered today."

"Prices are our least consideration "concluded Mr. Wernette." "Our customers can practically make their own terms. We want all Glendale to come to Sylvan View and see what we have to offer, an actual view of the property itself is our most convincing argument. Our temporary tract office will be on Tenth Street, just west of Grand View and will be conspicuous by the orange and black umbrellas. It is only necessary to drive out to Brand's Castle and make the turn on Tenth street. Our new signs will direct drivers right to the tract office."

SOCIAL EVENTS

Present Program

Encouragement of musical education and activities is one of the purposes of the Music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. Warren Robert is curator. Yesterday afternoon the members of the section were entertained with a delighful demonstration of harmony in the music room of the Glendale Union High school by the harmony pupils of Mrs. Dora L. Gibson, music instructor.

The program was introduced by Mrs. Gibson, who at this time expressed her appreciation of the members' interest and encouragement of musical pursuits of the pupils of the high school. Mrs. Gibson states, "Harmony is to music what mathematics is to the engineering corps," therefore it is quite necessary in the musical education of a student.

Following the program, announcement was made that the next meeting would be held May 25, at the club house, with Mrs. Colin Cable and Mrs. Charles Meadows in charge. The program will consist of Spanish music.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones made an announcement of the benefit concert for Miss Hazel Linkogel on May 24, and the section purchased twenty tickets.

Following the meeting, a social hour was enjoyed with the girls of the harmony class acting as hostesses.

At Cole Home

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. H. Loren Mitchell and Mrs. Mary Cole entertained the mothers and the babies of the cradle roll and the "Mothers' Jewels" of the home missionary society of the Central Avenue Methodist church on the lawn at the home of the latter, 1241 South Boynton street. Balloon volley ball and other games were enjoyed by the merry party. The hostesses served ice cream cones, cookies and lemonade to their guests during the afternoon.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. J. Floyd McMasters were hosts to the "4Cs" club, the junior section being entertained until 9 o'clock and the senior section and the J. O. C. class of the Central Avenue Methodist Sunday school until later. Miss Edith Besant, who has just returned from Berkeley was the guest of honor. Refreshments were served by the hosts.

Friends Honorees

Two friends of Mrs. H. S. McCormack were complimented yesterday when she entertained with a luncheon at the Harriett Mae tea room. Mesdames C. W. Dudley and Robert Yost were teh honorees, and the affair was a farewell event, for both of them are leaving shortly for an extensive eastern trip.

Other guests were women who assisted Mrs. McCormack in her booth at the recent "Carnival of Months," given at the Tuesday Afternoon club house. They were Mesdames Kilgore, McMillan, Kelley, Squires, Gregg, Brown, Busby, Wilson, Hoagel and J. G. Huntley, A. H. Montgomery and J. Herbert Toal.

Sweet peas and fern decorated the table, and the favors were cunning little traveling cases.

Hollywood Guest

Mrs. Georgia K. Wagoner, of 526 South Central avenue, was the guest on Wednesday of Mrs. Wm. Griffith (Helen Sherman Griffith) of Philadelphia, who, with her family, has been spending the winter in Hollywood. Mah Jongg was the diversion offered the guests of the afternoon. Among those invited were Mrs. Wagoner, her mother, Mrs. Geo. Forbes of Des Moines, Ia., and her sister, Mrs Arthur Sherman of Beverly Hills, formerly of Glendale.

Mrs. Wagoner will be the guest of Mrs. Griffith, who is the well-known author of children's books, on next Wednesday at The Writers' Revu in Hollywood.

Gives Luncheon

Mrs. Frank Thompson, who came to Glendale recently from Huntington Park, entertained yesterday with a luncheon at her home at 406 North Jackson street.

She used arrangements of pink sweet peas, carnations and poppies to carry out a yellow and pink color scheme.

Luncheon was served on small tables, and during the afternoon card games were enjoyed.

Her guests were a group of Huntington Park friends, and Mesdames Wilson, Hunter and Lynch, of Glendale.

Entertains Class

Mrs. A. H. Fuelsher of 622 North Isabel street, entertained Thursday afternoon thirty members of the Lydia Bible class of the Glendale Presbyterian church.

Assisting hostesses were Mesdames Grotzer, Elliott and Johnson.

Business and social hours were enjoyed, and the hostesses served refreshments.

Concert Success

Harold E. Trefry, local talented baritone and pupil of Mrs. Virginia Freeman, was formally introduced to Glendale at a concert last night in the auditorium of the First Baptist church. He was heartily greeted by a large company of friends.

For the affair the church was artistically decorated with a profusion of roses and ferns.

Mrs. Eva Ghrist, pianist, assisted Mr. Trefry, and Mrs. Roberta Young served as accompanist. Mr. Trefry gave nine vocal numbers, and Mrs. Ghrist gave two piano selections.

Following the program, members of the Mizpah class were hostesses in the social hall, where Mr. Trefry's friends had the opportunity to congratulate him on his success.

The program was:

Tenth Birthday

One of the prettiest birthday parties this season was given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. W. E. Evans in the celebration of her daughter, Catherine's, tenth birthday anniversary.

The rooms were decorated with artistic arrangements of yellow flowers, yellow roses and buttercups being used. The tea table was decorated in yellow and white. Yellow bon bon baskets and favors marked the guests' places.

Games were played and contests enjoyed during the early part of the afternoon, after which the guests were entertained at 6 o'clock.

Those present were Martha McCourt, Alice Ayars, Betty Haygood, Doris Hanna, Ruth Tower, Doris Hold, Barbara Stamps and Doris Stamps and the guest of honor, Catherine Evans.

For Week End

Miss Virginia Huntley, Pomona college student, arrived home late this morning to spend the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Huntley of 1440 Highland avenue. She was among the guests this afternoon at the luncheon given by Miss Kathleen Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Campbell.

Miss Huntley is enjoying her college work greatly and recently took part in the annual May masque, the big affair given by the women of the college. Mrs. Huntley went over to Claremont to be the guest of her daughter on the annual women's day, featured by the presentation of the masque.

Chinese Tableaux

Chinese tableaux, "From Darkness to Light" were the entertaining features of the afternoon program Thursday at the all-day meeting of the Women's Union of the First Baptist church at the church.

The women met in the morning to work on their White Cross sewing.

After the luncheon hour Mrs. Park Arnold took charge of the gathering. The program was arranged by Mrs. Arthur Sisly, first vice president. In addition to the tableaux there were vocal solos by Mrs. P. E. Maxwell.

Quiz Mrs. Obenchain On Phillips Flight

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Madalynne Obenchain, comely Chicago divorcee, who was held in the county jail here for more than a year in connection with the slaying of J. Belton Kennedy and then given her freedom, positively will be called to the district attorney's office today to make a statement and explain how she came into possession of certain articles, said to be the property of Clara Phillips, escaped "hammer murderess" now held at Tegucigalpa, Honduras.

Such was the statement of Chief Deputy District Attorney Asa Keyes after surveying evidence, which, it is said, links Mrs. Obenchain with the "tiger woman's" flight from jail here last December. Mrs. Phillips and Mrs. Obenchain were held in jail at the same time and Mrs. Phillips is said to have escaped a few hours after Mrs. Obenchain left the jail, when given her freedom.

CHURCHES

DO you remember when you were a little fellow and sat by your mother in church? Maybe that experience will be among the reminiscences tomorrow, when you pay silent tribute to your mother, be she living or dead.

It seems that Sunday is a most fitting day on which to remember mother, and it seems most fitting that on that annual event the churches should arrange their services as a special honor.

Tomorrow Mothers' Day is to be recognized in the majority of Glendale's houses of worship.

One very impressive and beautiful observance will be at the Tropico Presbyterian church, where Dr. James Winnard will preach on "The Mother's Commission," reading the scripture lesson from his mother's Bible, printed in 1816.

DAY

Mother's day May 13th

"MY FIRST LOVE WAS MY MOTHER—and my first home was in her heart. My first bed was upon her bosom. Leaning little arms on her knees, I learned my first prayer. A bright lamp she lit in my soul that never goes out, though the winds and waves of fourscore years have swept over me.

—"That light she kindled still sheds a helpful glow over days and ways with many changes."—John Wanamaker.

—DON'T FORGET MOTHER'S DAY. Some small tribute of attention or affection from her loved ones will be rewarded with the deepest sort of appreciation.

Mothers' Day

The Second Sunday in May

—Mothers! What a world of inspiration in that single word! Sunday is her blessed day. Don't let us forget it! Willingly and most graciously she is to be remembered upon that occasion.

—A small tribute of affection—some little attention—that in itself is sufficient to let her know that the world still loves her. Remember, Mothers' Day is Sunday.

On Mothers' Day

—There are scarcely words enough to aptly express the thoughts of your mind about this—the greatest day of the year.

—BUT, BE ASSURED, she will appreciate it and know the thoughts of your mind if you bring her here tomorrow for one of our famous Chicken Dinners.

eidler's Men Out to Annex Fifth Straight Game at Local Park

When the Glendale baseball m meets the Pasadena nine, to- rrow afternoon on the home unds at Park avenue and San rnando road, in the fifth game the Valley league series, sparks likely to fly, according to nager Walt Heidler of the lo- boys.

Glendale has won four games ight and is determined to ke it five in a row, while Pasa- a is understood to have de- ed objections to any such plan. se objections are nine in num- — each a ball-player all omed and keyed to break Glen- e's winning streak.

But "We'll see!" says Walt, for has nine crackerjack reasons believing the Pasadena lads going to be dissatisfied with outcome of tomorrow's tus- —and he thinks that, man fo n, his reasons are better than adena's.

One excellent reason is "Slim" ris, who will do the sleight-of- d stuff on the mound. An- r good reason is Shrider, be- d the bat. A third is Elmer ff, the young second sacker distinguished himself in the Nuys struggle.

The game is called at 2:30 ock and Walt says, "Better e out and see the boys, all ed up in their new uniforms, not afraid to muss 'em up!"

COUNTY HEALTH OFFICER SPEAKER

tect the public health in this section," he asserted. "Just in the same sense that we were not prepared for the great war. 'In time of peace,' George Washington said, 'we must prepare for war.' In time of peace we must develop a trained health organization."

Come Through Contact

Practically all diseases contracted by children are acquired through their contact with other children in the public school system, according to Dr. Pomeroy. He called attention to the fact that a school district has a certain percentage of its income from the state school funds withheld every time a child is absent from school. He added that many school nurses are actually able to save their own salaries by helping pupils keep well and so remain in school.

One of the little-considered taxes, in the opinion of Dr. Pomeroy, is the tax of preventable ill health. He asserted that actuarial statistics prove that the average person loses nine days' wages each year because of preventable sickness.

The possibility of plague or cholera being brought to Los Angeles harbor from the Orient was suggested by Dr. Pomeroy. He stated that measures should be taken at once to rat-proof the wharves and breakwater. He commented upon a similar situation a number of years ago in San Francisco harbor.

The impossibility of securing trained health officers on short notice to cope with a sudden emergency was emphasized. Dr. Pomeroy said that he had three positions on his staff which he is unable to fill because of the lack of men trained in this particular work.

Bandit Shoots Woman In Holdup on Street

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—While Mrs. W. D. Cook lay seriously wounded at her home in West Twenty-fifth street, police today spread a dragnet for the bandit who, late last night, shot and probably fatally wounded Mrs. Cook when she objected to being put off her automobile.

According to Ralph Wycoff, who was motoring with Mrs. Cook at the time of the holdup, the bandit stopped their machine at Fairfax avenue and Pico boulevard. After Mrs. Cook had turned over her ring and Wycoff given up $20, they were ordered from the machine, Wycoff said. Mrs. Cook objected to the order. A point blank shot at Mrs. Cook was the bandit's answer. The bandit then escaped.

Ask Sporting Writer To Referee Battle

KANSAS CITY, Mo., May 12.—Jack Kearns, manager for Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, today wired from New York to Otto Floto of the sports department of the Kansas City Post that he would insist on Floto refereeing the Dempsey-Gibbons bout for the championship July 4 at Shelby, Mont.

Floto wired in reply that on account of his health he would be unable to act as referee.

Net Champion Beats New Yorker for Title

LONDON, May 12.—Covey, the English champion, won the world's professional court tennis championship today, defeating Walter Kinsella of New York, seven sets to three. Covey clinched the match today by winning two straight sets, 6-2, 6-2. He had previously won five sets out of eight.

Proposes Big Fine Against Vernon Club

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—A resolution to fine the Vernon club $13,000 for playing Ray French and Jess Doyle this season will be introduced at Monday's meeting of the coast league directors at San Francisco, Charley Lockhard, part owner of the Seattle club, said late yesterday.

TAGGING ALL BASES

Home runs, a perfect shower of them, which set a new major league record for circuit hits in a single game, resulted in a football score in the Philadelphia-St. Louis game, with the Phils on the long side of a 20-to-14 final. Ten home runs were made, surpassing the record of nine made in 1894. Cy Williams got three, making his total for the season 12.

O'Farrell's triple and homer could not equal in scoring power a double by Cunningham with the bases loaded, and the Giants won from Chicago, 7 to 4.

Not the number, but the timeliness, of hits counted in the Brooklyn 7-to-6 win over Pittsburgh. The Pirates made eleven hits to ten for the Dodgers. Grimm ran his streak of consecutive hitting to twenty-two games.

FIRPO WINNER WITH KNOCKOUT

Argentine's Big Fellow Puts Jack McAuliffe Away In Third Round

to his reluctant feet, but he was too late.

Fulton vs. Renault

The cameraman deployed into action when Fred Fulton and Jack Renault entered the ring for their ten-round bout.

Fulton's weight was announced as 214 pounds and Renault's at 190½. Jack O'Sullivan was the third man in the ring.

In the fourth round Fulton dropped Renault with a heavy smash to the body which seemed very low. Referee O'Sullivan stopped the bout and helped Renault to his corner to examine the boxer. After a brief examination the referee declared Renault the winner on a foul after 2 minutes and 25 seconds of fighting.

Firpo is Winner

Jack McAuliffe, II, of Detroit, came smilingly into the ring for his scheduled fifteen-round bout with Luis Firpo of Argentine.

The weights: Firpo 212 pounds; McAuliffe 200. It started to dribble rain while the photographers were going through with the usual formalities.

Firpo knocked out McAuliffe II with a terrific right to the jaw in the third round. Firpo is not accustomed to fighting with anybody. He met a mean, fast stepping, limber youngster in McAuliffe, but he was entirely too rough for the Detroit entry, scoring a knockdown in the second round and finishing his man after one minute and two seconds of fighting in the third round.

GUESTS PRESENT AT LEGION MEET

Legion's Co-operation With Veterans' Bureau Is Asked by Visitor

Several visitors were present last night in the hall at 610 East Broadway, at the weekly meeting of Post 127 of the American Legion.

W. C. Brewer, member of Post No. 1, at Washington, D. C., appealed for closer co-operation between the Legion and the Veterans' bureau. He was accompanied to Glendale by Leroy Smith, member of Post No. 8 of Los Angeles.

Bruce Anawalt and R. D. Walker represented the Monte Vista post at Tujunga. They called attention to the performance of the Mission Play, to be given May 21, in the "Green Verdugo Hills," and extended a special invitation to all Legionnaires to attend.

ASK PREFERENCE FOR BILL NO. 640

Engineers Favor Giving Cities Authority in Building Sewers

John F. Johannsen of 1129 East Harvard street, chief draftsman of the municipal engineering department, last night represented the city administration at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce building at Watts of representatives of various communities in Los Angeles county.

Ray F. Goudey, sanitary engineer of the state board of health, and others commented upon Assembly Bill No. 190, which gives the county board of supervisors control of all sewer construction work. This bill has passed both houses of the legislature and is now ready for Governor Friend Richardson's signature. A resolution was adopted and wired to the state capitol urging that Assembly Bill No. 640 be given preference. This bill gives municipalities the right to co-operate in the construction of sewer lines.

A second meeting is to be held in Compton May 25, to discuss Assembly Bill No. 191.

EAGLE ROCK

DAHLIAS FURTHER EAGLE ROCK FAME

Now Is Time to Plant for October Blooms, Says Mrs. C. W. Young

"Eagle Rock, The Dahlia City," is a slogan dahlia growers desire to add to the "Homeland" slogan, pointing out that J. J. Broomall, with his Dahlia Farm at Dahlia and Rosemont avenues, has advertised the community far and wide.

"In New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York, and in many other states, Eagle Rock is known by its dahlias," says Mrs. C. W. Young, of 900 Rock Glen, chairman of the civic committee of the Women's Twentieth Century club, under whose auspices Dahlia Week was held last year and will again be held this year, around the first of October.

"Although October is a long way off," Mrs. Young says, "nevertheless now is the time the campaign must be launched, for now is dahlia-planting time, and unless proper attention is given to planting, prize blooms cannot be exhibited during Dahlia Week.

"Right now, for instance, is the time the tubers should be set out. And there is just one right way to water them and tend them during the summer months, to get the maximum results. The people must be told these things."

Mrs. Young suggests that anyone interested in raising dahlias pay a visit to Mr. Broomall's Dahlia Farm, or communicate with her.

Last year Mrs. Young raised the largest dahlia in Eagle Rock, a giant "snowdrift," eleven inches across, winning first prize in the exhibit.

"Press Day" at Club

Thursday, May 10, was "Press Day" at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse, with Mrs. Kyle D. Palmer as chairman of the day. Mrs. Estelle Lawton Lindsay, a Los Angeles newspaper woman, was the principal speaker at the luncheon, talking on "The Community and the Newspaper."

In the afternoon Miss Belle McCord Roberts, owner and publisher of the Long Beach Telegram, spoke on "Running a Newspaper." A year ago Miss Roberts' father, Frank Roberts, died, and she stepped into his position as owner of The Telegram, deciding to run the paper for a while. Her experiences as an editor-in-chief and employer of men and women, furnished material for a very interesting talk, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the members of the club.

Fred Warner, candidate for Los Angeles councilman, also spoke, presenting to the club members a plea for support in the forthcoming election.

Mrs. Palmer left this morning for Sacramento, to join her husband, Kyle D. Palmer, who, as political editor of the Los Angeles Times, is covering the session of the legislature. She will remain with him there until the end of the session.

Circumstances prearranged by man generally balk at the crucial moment.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

"Romance Land," with Tom Mix, is the feature film at the Glendale Theatre today. It is a laughing, galloping comedy of the days of yore, brought up to date. The atmosphere of the story seems to be imbued, like the two principal characters, with the inspiring thoughts that come down to us through Sir Walter Scott's "Ivanhoe" and the "Roundtable Tales" of King Arthur. Barbara Bedford is the girl who supports Tom.

The story is of a cowboy of the western plains (Tom Mix) who becomes imbued with the spirit of Raleigh and fancies himself riding the lists for Nan Harvess (Barbara Bedford), who lives with her uncle in the nearby town of Red Dog. Nan too is imbued with the spirit of the legends of the days of old and between them they have some very romantic adventures.

Five acts of standard vaudeville are also on today's bill at the Glendale Theatre.

Starting tomorrow (Sunday), "Souls For Sale," a Rupert Hughes film distributed by Goldwyn, will be the feature at the Glendale Theatre, the fine cast including Frank Mayo, Richard Dix, Lew Cody, Barbara La Marr, Mae Busch and Eleanor Boardman.

TUJUNGA

BUS COMPANY TO IMPROVE TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM

Verdugo Hills Co. to Ask Permission to Issue Bonds to Purchase Five Additional Busses to Carry Passengers

An important development in connection with the plans for improving highway conditions through the valley is the action of the Board of Public Works of Los Angeles calling for bids for the construction of a bridge over the Pacoima wash.

This is the result of joint efforts of civic bodies in the valley several months ago in a united campaign for the completion of this important link in the highway. This short stretch in the wash is a source of annoyance to motorists and the action taken is very encouraging at the present time, when the different civic bodies are working out plans for having the highway widened to one hundred feet through the valley to accommodate the increasing traffic that makes the present narrow strip of pavement inefficient.

With the option of the Southern Pacific Motor Bus Company expired, the Verdugo Hills Transportation Company will endeavor to issue bonds to buy new equipment to improve their service and accommodations. According to the manager of the Verdugo Hills Transportation company there are no other deals pending for the purchase of the company. This is in direct contradiction of the rumor that the Pacific Electric Railway company contemplated the purchase of the stock. The Verdugo Hills Transportation company plans to petition the state railroad commission for permission to issue equipment bonds of small denominations extending over two, three and four year periods.

Need Five Busses

According to Mr. Campbell, manager of the company, they need five new busses. These busses will cost approximately $7000 each. These five busses, would fill the immense needs of the company. The railroad commission allows a depreciation reserve of two per cent per month on equipment and this would retire the bonds in a little over four years even if there were no other provision made for a sinking fund.

The state railroad commission heard the application of the Verdugo Hills Transportation company for a franchise to operate a stage line between Sunland and Pasadena. The commission took the matter under advisement.

The Tujunga Valley Realty board voiced its opposition to any plan for the betterment of transportation facilities that would involve the changing from busses to street cars at Glendale at their last meeting. This seems to be the consensus of opinion of all who have expressed their opinions on the matter. The traveling public of the valley towns does not want a mixed transportation service between Sunland and Los Angeles.

The Chamber of Commerce is taking an active interest in the widening of the highway plan and has appointed a committee to represent that body at the meeting of the Associated Chambers here next Tuesday night at the Community church at which this question will be the chief topic of discussion. At the last meeting Mr. Knox reported that there was no immediate prospects of getting gas for the valley.

Secretary L. H. Fisher made a report on his efforts to have the Automobile Club of Southern California place Tujunga on their maps in the future and also on their sign posts. Letters were read from the club in which promises were made that Tujunga will be shown on their maps in the future.

Obeserve Hothers' Day

Next Sunday, Mothers' Day, will be observed in Tujunga churches with special sermons at both morning and evening services. At the Community church Dr. Stotts will be in the pulpit in the morning and in the evening Reverend Glenn Moore will give his Mothers' Day sermon that he delivered a year ago.

Arrangements have been made whereby any one who is unable to get to the church may have an automobile call for them if they will send their names to Dr. Stotts or Reverend Glenn Moore by Saturday night.

At the Tujunga Episcopal church the Holy Communion will be celebrated Sunday morning with the Reverend Robert Renison officiating. Mr. Noble of Pasadena substituted last Sunday for the regular lay reader at the morning service.

Every Friday the guild holds meetings, at which time everyone is welcome, from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m., with lunch at 1 o'clock.

A bus service has been instituted, with the co-operation of Mr. Richardson of the Verdugo Hills Transportation company, whereby anyone unable to walk to the church may have the benefit of the busses and Mr. Richardson was given a vote of thanks at the last meeting for his assistance.

The Men's Brotherhood of the Tujunga Community church held their regular monthly meeting last Monday night, and a fine supper was served by the ladies. An evangelistic service followed the supper. Vocal music was rendered by Mesdames Weidman, Mercer and Musser of the Glendale Christian church.

Wins Scholarship

Miss Beulah Stotts, daughter of Dr. J. U. Stotts, pastor of the Tujunga Community church, has won the scholarship offered by the University Women's club this year. Miss Stotts is a student of Occidental college, and this is the first time the scholarship, which carries with it a $300 cash prize, has been won by a student of this college.

The Chrjstian Endeavor meeting, a business session, has been postponed until May 18, on account of the evangelistic meetings now in progress at the Community church. This meeting will be held at the home of Miss Marzelle Greer.

The home of Thomas Buck on North Cedar street was completely destroyed by fire and a doll rescued by one of his little girls was practically the only thing saved from the house. The fire started from an oil stove when Mrs. Buck was cooking supper and had left the house to go into the yard to water the flowers. The fire was discovered by one of the children, but not until it had gained sufficient headway to make it dangerous to attempt to save any of the furniture. Everything was covered with insurance and Mr. Buck is rebuilding at once.

A party made up of the following motored to Bouquet Canyon last Sunday for an outing: Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cavolt, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse C. Burrell, Miss Fannie E. Spangler, Millet Smith and C. C. Hamilton.

The Summit Glen dance pavilion opened Saturday night on the highway at the eastern edge of Tujunga. Kelly's Shrine Club orchestra of Glendale furnished the music for the large crowd that turned out for the opening night. Dances will be given there every Saturday night in the open air pavilion.

Mrs. J. A. Jenkins entertained at her home at 515 Monte Vista boulevard for twenty-five members of the Ladies of the Modern Maccabees of Los Angeles. Several of her Tujunga friends also gathered for the luncheon. The afternoon was pleasantly spent enjoying music, games and readings.

Guests of Honor

Mrs. Moffat, mother of Mrs. Leo L. Lang, was the guest of honor at an entertainment given by the ladies of the Aid society last Wednesday at the home of Miss Carrie Brown on Olive street. The Sunday school class presented her with a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

The ladies of the Aid society presented Mrs. Moffat with a volume of John Steven McGroarty's "History of California."

Mrs. Lang and her mother expect to leave soon for an extended trip to the east. They will stop at Portland and Seattle, but will spend most of the time at Cooperstown, N. D., their former home.

James Blaine, formerly of Glendale, is now associated with Leo L. Lang in his insurance business, and will have charge of the office from 10 a. m. to 12, and from 1 to 3 in the afternoon.

William Saurs, wholesale egg dealer of Los Angeles, has purchased two lots in the "Gem of Tujunga" tract on Michigan avenue.

The extent of the injuries sustained last week by Dr. E. T. Theobald when he was assaulted by a man whose name was not learned, were determined Monday when an X-ray was taken of his ankle, which showed a fracture of one of the smaller bones. It was thought at first that the ankle was only sprained, but when it did not respond to sprain treatment an X-ray was taken. Just how the ankle became injured has not been determined, but it is the opinion of the doctor that he stepped on a stone, that turned with his weight and threw him during the mix-up.

Judge H. H. Breidt is entertaining his cousin, Mrs. Lola Bissel of New York, at his home on Monte Vista boulevard.

DEATHS--FUNERALS

AMANDA FRANCES ROBBINS

The hour of the funeral services for Mrs. Amanda Frances Robins, who died Thursday, May 10, 1923, at her own home in Eagle Rock, has been changed from this afternoon to Monday morning at 11 o'clock. The services will be held in the chapel of the Jewell City Undertaking company with Rev. Philip K. Kemp, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal church officiating.

Mrs. Robbins' daughter Mrs. Bertha Wilson and grand-daughter, Mrs. Louis Lewis resided with her.

BIRTHS

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. S. Galbraith of 110 East Eagle avenue, Eagle Rock, this morning, Saturday, May 12, 1923, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Purcell of 905 East Harvard street this morning, Saturday, May 12, 1923, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Colson of 360 West Acacia avenue Thursday night, May 10, 1923, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

CLOSE OUT LOTS IN FINAL DRIVE

Bellehurst Tract No. 2 Will Be Sold by Glendale Realty Company

A whirlwind campaign to close out the remaining lots in Bellehurst Tract No. 2 is being carried on by the Glendale Realty company, 131½ South Brand boulevard, who are offering this property that lies in the heart of the most desirable district of Glendale at terms that are bound, it is claimed, to make a distinct appeal to anyone who desires to secure a homesite or an investment that is certain to grow in value in the immediate future.

Bellehurst Tract No. 2 lies closely adjacent to car lines, schools, stores and churches, and the restrictions that have been placed on it are such as to insure that only the better class of homes will be erected on this property. In going to the tract prospective buyers follow North Geneva street, Howard and Everett, to where the tract lies, between Lexington and Doran, and the company has erected signs all along the route to direct visitors to the property.

A bridge is now being built over the wash at Geneva street, making a through street from Broadway clear to the mountains north of town.

WANT AMERICAN FLAG

TRINIDAD, Colo., May 12.—Five hundred high school students Friday staged a huge demonstration in Trinidad streets, refusing to attend school until the American flag was hoisted over the school building.

The demonstration is said to have followed remarks attributed to National Commander Owsley of the American Legion, in an address here yesterday, when he was reported to have advised pupils not to attend a school where the American flag was not flown.

CHILDREN IN DANGER

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—Scores of school children playing in the yard of the McKinley junior high school, at Vernon and McKinley avenues, yesterday, were imperiled, one girl was reported slightly injured, and considerable damage to the boiler and engine rooms of the institution was done when a water heater exploded.

Child Entertainer Gives Program At Chautauqua

Alice Louise Shrode is one of the most talented and popular child entertainers on the Chautauqua program. Simple, unaffected, girlish, she whistles, sings and dances with exquisite skill and art. She is a delight to all audiences, of every age, for she embodies the eternal grace and charm of childhood with talent and masterly technique. Alice Louise's mother has been her teacher, and Mrs. Shrode travels with her daughter on the tour, acting as accompanist.

Baptists Will Hold Evangelist Services

A series of evangelist services is to be inaugurated tomorrow morning at the First Baptist church at the corner of Louise street and Wilson avenue. Miss Amy Lee Stockton, who has been holding services at Del Rey, Pomona, Highland Park and Redlands, is to direct the meetings.

She is to preach at the morning service at 11 o'clock and the evening meeting at 7:30 o'clock and every evening, excepting Saturdays, until May 27.

Investment Broker To Open Office Here

Walker F. Quisenberry, an investment broker, with offices in the Mason building, in Los Angeles, has established a branch office at 113 East Broadway, in the suite occupied by the Page-Stone Company, real estate dealers, where he will deal in all kinds of investment securities, stocks and bonds. Guy E. Rice has been appointed manager of the Glendale office, and will handle all the business arising from this city, Eagle Rock and Burbank.

The firm specializes in oil securities that are proven to be dividend-payers, it is stated, and correspondents in the leading financial centers of the country will furnish the latest news of all the markets.

OPENING NUMBER PLEASES CROWDS

Enough Glendalians to completely fill the big Chautauqua tent at the corner of Orange and Harvard streets, followed the signs "Turn to the Right" last night and witnessed as the initial event of the 1923 Chautauqua program a talented presentation of a sparkling comedy drama.

"Turn to the Right" has an appeal, a laugh, a lesson and a wealth of entertainment in its make-up and, with a well-trained cast presenting it, the play proved very popular with the Glendale audience.

This afternoon Alice Louise Shrode, juvenile entertainer, gave a program of impersonations, dramatic readings and whistling numbers. Appearing on the same program was Evelyn McFarlane McClusky in a musical lecture demonstration.

Chinese to Lecture

The attraction tonight will be a lecture by Dr. Ng Poon Chew, Chinese statesman, "China and the Future Peace of the Pacific."

Mothers' Day at the Chautauqua tent will be celebrated by an afternoon program by Charles Mitchell Mixer's orchestral quartet and James Hamilton, American lyric tenor.

Events of Monday are to be afternoon program by Beatrice Stuart Weller, lecture illustrated with cartoons. At night Tom Skeyhill, recently returned from a year in European countries, will speak on "The New Renaissance of European Civilization."

Realtors to Picnic At Riverside Today

Riverside is host today, starting at 10 a. m. to the southern California realty dealers in their third annual basket picnic. There will be good speakers and entertainment, consisting of games, bathing and racing, at Fairmount Park and the fair grounds, and there will be a dance in the evening at the Elks' hall. Every real estate dealer in southern California has been invited to bring his family and basket luncheon to Riverside.

Registration will be at the Glenwood Mission Inn, and after seeing this wonderful place, the visitors will motor to the summit of Mount Rubidoux, the Eastermountain of southern California.

Among the speakers will be Frazier O. Reed of San Jose, president of the California Real Estate Association; Col. Henry P. Barbour of Long Beach, and C. L. Seagraves, the Santa Fe's general colonization agent from Chicago, William H. Akin, chairman of the state legislative committee, who recently has returned from Sacramento, will deliver an address. The legislation which his committee sponsored has been enacted and signed by Governor Richardson. Freeman H. Bloodgood, former state real estate commissioner, will speak on the work of a realty board in its community. Mayor S. C. Evans will deliver the address of welcome. Vice President O. A. Vickrey will respond.

Three regional districts of the state association will combine for this picnic, and delegates are expected to be present from the counties south of the Tehachapi.

W. E. Stevens is president of the picnic association. I. S. Logan is secretary and Frank C. Nye, president of the Riverside realty board is chairman of the program committee.

One of the features of the picnic will be the awarding of a round trip ticket to the state real estate convention at Sacramento, to be held in October.

officers, they start out to arrest our own residents.

'If the bootleggers are here, let the government officers come and get them. As it is, the officials ask the co-operation of our men, and as they sit and wait the bootleg dispensers spend their spare moments robbing our houses.

Merchants Summoned

Four of our leading merchants were summoned to police court yesterday for selling cigarettes to minors. The 'stool pigeon' who was sent is only 16 years of age —that is admitted. But how were the dealers to know that? The lad is nearly six feet tall and looks about ready to grow a full supply of whiskers.

"The system' is a howling farce. People hesitate to come here for fear of being arrested."

The position of the police department was defined by John Neilson, the only member of the Board of Trustees present at the meeting.

"Many of these charges are ill-founded," declared Mr. Neilson. "The request for investigation of illegal sales of cigarettes came directly from the faculty of the high school. We believed it warranted investigation.

"Arrests for speed violations last month varied in offenses of from thirty-nine to fifty miles an hour. The records show this. And as for the bootleggers—we don't want that class of people here and are doing our best to rid the community of them. That is a part of our duty."

GLEE CLUB WILL OFFER PROGRAM

Pomona College Singers at Congregational Church Wednesday Night

"A Glee Club of Note" is the slogan of the Pomona College Men's Glee club, and they are coming to Glendale Wednesday night to present a program in the First Congregational church to justify their claim to this distinction.

The college has assembled a talented organization of singers this year, and under the direction of Ralph H. Lyman, head of the college music department, the men have attained a perfection of ensemble and a fresh and vigorous interpretation that are a delight to their audiences.

While the club endeavors to maintain a reputation for thorough musicianship, it does not limit itself strictly to classcal numbers. There are many humorous encores and stunts to enliven the entertainment.

Singing and Playing Program Is Planned

The Community Service Song Leaders and Recreation Leaders' Clubs will have a joint play and sing evening in the gymnasium of the high school Monday evening, May 14, at 7:30 p. m.

The program of play is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. John Langton, the singing in charge of Mrs. Wm. Kulp, president of the Song Leaders' Club.

This meeting is open to the general public and those who come are assured of a very enjoyable evening.

Oakmont Country Club Will Receive Bids for New Clubhouse

Seventy-five persons in this vicinity this week received their $2000 bonds in the Oakmont Country Club.

The Hellman Commercial Trust & Savings Bank of Los Angeles recently completed the escrow proceedings in regard to the financing of this company. The Barnum & Walters Realty Company, former owners of the land, have been given $117,000 in cash and have taken a second mortgage for the balance of $113,000. The total price of the 115 acres was $230,000.

H. M. Parker, general manager of the Oakmont Country Club, is receiving the congratulation of his friends upon the quickness with which this project was financed. He stated that many other clubs, which have been established for some time, are not in such good financial condition. He asserted that he is still receiving applications for the $2000 bonds which entitle their holders not only to interest but to a free life membership. As only seventy-five of these were issued, they did not remain long unsold.

Of the seventy-five additional life memberships, twenty-five have been sold already and fifty remain to be sold, half at $1200 and half at $1500 apiece. Although the prospectus mentions $1000 for each life membership, the state corporation commission permitted this sum to be increased when the board of directors decided to purchase six acres more than it had originally intended.

Plans for the clubhouse are now being completed at 130 South Brand boulevard in the office of the Roy L. Kent Company. When the tracings have been completed, bids will be received and turned over to a special meeting of the board of directors. It is estimated that actual construction work will start within a few weeks.

The grading of the clubhouse site was discussed yesterday by Mr. Parker and A. H. Wilson, who will be superintendent of construction. They came to the conclusion that very little excavating would be necessary. Mr. Wilson expressed his opinion that two days' work would complete the job. The cellar, which will be about 40 by 50 feet in size, and will contain the furnace and storage room, will be excavated under contract.

BIG DEMAND FOR BRAND FRONTAGE

Usilton & Benner Report a Number of Sales on Boulevard

Railways Are Getting Back To Normalcy

NEW YORK, May 12.—The nation's railroads have already advanced a great step in their national program to get back on their feet, according to E. E. Loomis, president of the Lehigh Valley Railroad. They have:

Cut their cost of operation a billion dollars a year, two-thirds of which came from increased efficiency and economy of operation.

Moved a great traffic in 1922 with only 1,645,000 employes, as against 2,012,000 in 1920.

Kept wages well above the cost of living.

Cut the country's freight bill half a billion dollars.

"No other basic industry can show a more creditable progress during the last three years," Loomis declared, "despite the fact that the railroads were denied any share of the high commodity values of the war period.

Reed Names May 15 As Membership Day

May is the eighteenth anniversary month of the California Real Estate association and President Frazier O. Reed has formally proclaimed to all state members and local boards Tuesday, May 15, as Membership Day when every state member gets a new member and the local boards all strive for complete enrollment of their members in the association. Pledge cards are being received by the membership committee from all parts of the state.

FIGURES ON SOUTHWEST BUILDING

Various Cities Report on Total of Construction Done in April

Building operations in the Pacific Southwest for April, 1923, exceeded those for all other months of the present year except March. Forty-four cities, including Los Angeles, reporting, show permits issued during April with an estimated valuation of $26,153,676, as compared with $21,946,913 for 40 cities for the same month in 1922. For January 36 cities reported $19,664,102, for February 38 cities reported $23,020,430, and for March 39 cities reported $33,787,413.

Building in cities outside Los Angeles for April ran about the average proportion of the total for all cities. For March four cities outside Los Angeles reported more than a million dollars' worth of building. For April only one city, Long Beach, reported more than a million dollars. Forty-two cities outside of Los Angeles issued building permits for April, 1923, with an estimated valuation of $10,800,732 as compared with $8,987,227 for thirty-nine cities for the same month last year. For January of the present year thirty-five cities outside Los Angeles, reported a total of $8,405,585, for February thirty-seven cities reported $10,940,-

Figures Given By Income Tax Collector Indicate Prosperity Of Southland

REFLECTING steady expansion in retail and wholesale business in southern California, Collector Rex Goodcell yesterday gave out figures for April collections of sales taxes and manufacturers' excise taxes which show increases ranging from 20 per cent to 250 per cent over April of last year.

Manufacturers' excise tax, that accepted barometer of active business conditions, furnished receipts of $100,693.43, a gain of 31 per cent.

Sales of stamps which are used on bonds, stocks, conveyances, etc., were $115,168.46, an increase of 78 per cent.

Estate tax receipts were $254,682.27, a gain of 72 per cent.

Manufacturers paid tax on sales of $260,950 worth of auto trucks, a gain of 98 per cent.

On tires, inner tubes and automobile accessories, manufacturers paid tax on sales of $1,421,740, a gain of 32 per cent.

Manufacturers' sales of candy were $507,672, on which tax of $15,384.08 was paid, a gain of 25 per cent.

On jewelry retail dealers paid tax of $52,515.63 on sales of $1,050,320, a gain of 47 per cent.

Receipts from manufacturers' tax on non-alcoholic beverages were $12,423.14, a gain of 86 per cent.

Taxes on admissions and dues collected by motion picture theatres and other places of amusement were $253,907.40, a gain of 20 per cent. This tax collection indicates that the public spent $3,000,000 on amusements during the month and a tax-paid and non-tax attendance of 13,000,000.

From cabarets $7,218.19 was received for admission taxes, an increase of 250 per cent.

Capital stock tax collections increased 23 per cent, while social and athletic clubs paid $28,708.50 on dues and memberships, a gain of 27 per cent.

Receipts from manufacturers' tax on oleomargarine increased 7 per cent, and from distilled spirits 27 per cent.

BEAUTIFUL SETTING, NICE VISTAS, DESIRABLE LOTS

Occidental College Heights, One Block North Of Junction of Glassell Boulevard and Verdugo Road Good Investment

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of The Evening News Staff

"A CITY OF HOMESITES, seated upon a hill," is Occidental College Heights, a 111-acre tract of large view lots, located at the very doors of Glendale, one block north of the junction of Glassell boulevard and Verdugo road.

C. C. Cooper and George J. Barry, of the firm of Cooper & Barry, owners of the property, are offering to Glendale buyers, for two days only, seventy-five choice lots in Occidental College Heights at the following prices—thirty lots at $1200, twenty-seven lots at $1300, and eighteen lots at $1500, at terms of twenty per cent down and the balance in easy payments, $20 or so a month.

"Consider what this offer means," says Mr. Barry. "Twenty per cent down means a down payment of from but $240 to $300 per lot. Consider how small are the monthly payments. And consider that the lots average 50 by 135 feet and are within from 100 to 700 yards of the Yellow car line, 'E' route, running direct to the heart of Los Angeles, via North Broadway, a distance of but five and one-half miles from the tract.

Close to Los Angeles

"This means that Occidental College Heights is one and one-half miles nearer Los Angeles than Eagle Rock, two and one-half miles nearer than Glendale, two and one-half miles nearer than Hollywood and four and one-half miles nearer than Pasadena.

"It means that this tract offers the home-seeker a high, healthful, beautiful community, commanding superb vistas to north, south, east and west, convenient to churches, schools, Occidental College, theatres, trolleys, main boulevards, having its own nighborhood shopping center—and free from smoke, fog, haze, factories, railroad yards and industrial districts, a peaceful, restful, inspiring home community where a man and his family may live to the full each day of life, and where children may grow up amid the unhampered surroundings of nature.

"What we are developing here at Occidental College Heights," Mr. Barry says, "is a community of desirable middle-class homes. The property lies in a region of beautiful grassy knolls, lending itself topographically to a very fine landscape treatment, which

GOOD HOMESITES ON HIGH GROUND

Occidental College Heights Offers 75 Choice Lots to Local Buyers

in general will be a series of rolling terraces.

Unrivaled Features

"Each lot offers a splendid view, and each has its own personality. One buying here will have an opportunity to work out many unique ideas in home-building, at very moderate cost. Restrictions, while sufficient to protect the property, are not high enough to work a hardship, and will have the certain effect of materially increasing values.

"When a great institution of learning such as "Occidental College moves from Highland Park and buys 100 acres of this rolling hillside, investing there better than $2,000,000, it becomes obvious at once that the vicinity possesses certain unrivaled features.

"Among these features are setting, view, climate and altitude. Occidental College is planning an open-air Green theatre on the campus, with a seating capacity of 4,000. And Occidental College Heights offers the same superb open-air facilities, the same beautiful setting, the same desirable surroundings, the same proximity to Los Angeles and other surrounding points.

Glorious Setting

"Range upon range, the green Verdugo hills, the brown Sierra Madre mountains, the white-capped Sierra Nevadas spread away in blue and rose and purple shadows, a glorious, untiring panorama that stands forever as the background for Occidental College Heights."

Mr. Barry points out as another and very practical advantage of the location of this tract, the report from the city engineer's office that a new eighty-foot boulevard has been surveyed and will run from Avenue 40, which is the south boundary of Occidental College Heights, directly across country, north of the junction of Glassell boulevard and Verdugo road, into Avenue 36 on Fletcher drive, and then by direct line across the Los Angeles river to Riverside drive, thence east of Silver Lake, thence along a new route, through open country to Sunset boulevard, and thence westerly to Beverly boulevard, thence direct to Santa Monica via Wilshire boulevard.

This road, Mr. Barry points out, will put Occidental College Heights on the main line of an important new thoroughfare, and will be bound to greatly increase property values in the tract, as well as offer residents there the advantages of a new and shorter route through to Hollywood and the beaches.

Development Under Way

"We have broken ground on the grading of Occidental College Heights," states Mr. Barry, "the steam-shovel work having been awarded to John Donovan & Son of Los Angeles. We have awarded the general grading contract to C. C. Crandall, also of Los Angeles. Fremont Ackerman, dean of Los Angeles engineers, laid out our plat for us and says he has never had the pleasure of working on a finer tract.

"We are offering in Occidental College Heights everything that money can give in the way of developing and safeguarding and perpetuating that most democratic and basic of American institutions, the middle-class home," Mr. Barry concludes, "and we take pride in offering to the people of Glendale this pre-opening opportunity to become shareholders in a newer and finer community of homes, answering every dream of the man of moderate means, and yet not over-taxing his pocketbook."

Banks Pay More in Taxes, Report Shows

SACRAMENTO, May 12.—Taxes collected from California banks, both domestic and national, during the past year totaled $3,718,053.14, according to a statement made public by State Controller Ray L. Ridley. In the preceding year the banks paid $3,634,386.28, in state taxes, or $123,666.86, less than during the last twelve month period.

The tax collected from the domestic banks aggregated $2,105,958.10 as compared with $1,652,095.04 returned by the national banks.

TREES AND STREAMS ADD CHARM TO SUB-DIVISION

Scenic Beauties of Woodland Park Stand Unrivalled Among Realty Projects Anywhere In Southland

"THE cream of Verdugo Woodlands" is the description that has been applied to Woodland Park, the new fifteen acre subdivision that Twining & Myers, 211½ South Brand boulevard, are opening today and at which they are giving Glendale investors the first choice. The tract lies between Canada boulevard and Verdugo road, with Opechee Way forming the southern boundary and El Rito street the northern, and the entire fifteen acres are covered with noble trees, century-old sycamores, huge live oaks, and hundreds of willows, while two little brooks meander through the property and nourish the luxuriant vegetation that fringes their banks.

Situated at an elevation close to 1,000 feet above sea level, Woodland Park lies in a wide valley between the Verdugo mountains on one side and the San Rafael mountains on the other, and the two ranges of hills form a funnel through which the breezes blow all day, coming from the south in the early morning hours and, when the sun drops toward the west in the evening, springing up again in the north and maintaining a cool zephyr that makes life a pleasure from dawn till dark, and the cool nights that follow the sweep of the breezes through the valley render the hours of sleep restful and refreshing to a degree that cannot be equaled in any other part of Southern California.

Closely adjacent to Woodland Park lies the old Verdugo hacienda, with the famous rose vine that was planted over one hundred years ago, and in front of it the Fremont oak that has seen the history of California in the making since the days when the first Americans settled on the soil of the state.

Trees On All Lots

The sixty-two lots into which the tract has been divided have been laid out in such a manner as to allow each one of them some of the trees that make the property so beautiful, while most of them are touched by one or other of the little streams that flow through the tract and that lend themselves so freely to the artistic landscaping of the lots they touch. Examples of landscape gardening that have already been carried out on some of the home sites adjacent to Woodland Park show the wonderful effects that have been attained by the use of the water from these two streams, and the miniature waterfalls, the sunken gardens, the abundant shrubbery and the wide variety of trees that have been planted along their banks reveal beauties at every turn that are totally unsuspected by many of the people of Glendale.

Nature has made of the Verdugo Woodlands the ideal homesite, and in no other part of this domain has nature been so lavish of her beauties as she has in Woodland Park. And when, to the generous bounties of nature, there are added the advantages of the modern real estate development specialist, the tract that has been named Woodland Park stands out as the most striking and beautiful subdivision ever offered to the people of Glendale.

Canada boulevard, Opechee Way and Verdugo road are all paved, and the sidewalks on these three highways are already laid; the gas and water connections are in place; the electric lines have been run out to the tract; along Canada boulevard the main sewer has been constructed, and within a very short time the laterals from the sewer will be extended to every part of Woodland Park, thus giving this section of Glendale the only sewer at present in operation here. At a point farther towards the city there is an activating sludge disposal plant for handling the sewage, with a fall that insures its all being carried off rapidly, thus safeguarding the health of the residents in this favored district.

Owners Rush Work

Since Twining & Myers secured title to this tract and started their preparations to put it on the market, surveyors have been engaged in laying it out to the best advantage, keeping away from the stereotyped methods of laying out lots along straight lines, irrespective of the natural beauties of the property; crews and teams have been busy clearing away the underbrush from the property and cutting out the avenue, Sylvan Drive, that winds through the property from Opechee Way to El Rito street, and preparing for the formal opening of the tract today.

In addition to its natural beauties, Woodland Park is formed of a rich black loam, loose and easily worked, that has been for centuries absorbing the rejuvenating elements from the vegetation that has bloomed and died to feed the earth again, while the streams have carried down the rich silt and have watered the tract until it holds out a promise to the home gardener or the lover of flowers that is more easily fulfilled here than in any other part of Verdugo Woodlands.

The placing of Woodland Park on the market marks the third venture of Twining & Myers in the subdivision department of the real estate business since they opened their office here on February 1 of this year. It was not the original intention of the firm to engage in this end of the business, as they believed that they could carry on a business that would prove profitable in other lines; but when Fred Anderson, the owner of the tract that was opened up under the title of Honolulu Acres, asked their assistance in disposing of his property, they found themselves launched in the subdivision game in earnest, and their success with this tract speedily led to their being retained to handle Mesa Crest for the Lanterman estate. Honolulu Acres was closed out on Monday of this week, and the prices on this property already show an average advance of twenty-five per cent, with prospects of a still further raise; while Mesa Crest is more than half sold now, with houses already going up and with the definite assurance that all improvements will be in within the next sixty days.

Sell Honolulu Acres

Honolulu Acres was sold out in four weeks, and the members of the firm predict that Woodland Park will be entirely sold out within thirty days from today, and as an earnest of the rapidity with which the tract will be sold it is stated that a number of reservations have already been made by those who have been watching the property since it became known that Twining & Myers had bought the fifteen acres of the best part of Verdugo Woodlands. A distinctly human touch occurred in the sale of Honolulu Acres, when Mrs. Hattie B. Clark of West Eightieth street, Los Angeles, won the lot that was given away in connection with the sale of the property. Mrs. Clark and her husband, on the day they were notified that she had won the lot, had been hunting in vain for a moderate priced lot where they might erect a home in which to spend their declining years, and when they learned that the lot in Honolulu Acres was theirs, free of cost, they were deeply stirred, and their son purchased another lot adjoining that won by his mother.

The prices at which Woodland Park lots will be sold will be moderate, in view of the class of property in this region. W. L. Twining asserts that he is not going to burden any purchaser with a price that will keep him paying out money for the next ten years, but he will give every purchaser of Woodland Park lots an opportunity to make a profit through the resale of the property, which, he declares, is bound to show a rapid advance at the prices that have been placed on the lots.

The firm will put practically the entire selling force at work on Woodland Park, at least twenty-five salesmen being engaged on this property alone, and as soon as this tract has been disposed of Twining & Myers will have another new subdivision ready to place before their customers. In order to carry out their plans as they have developed during the past three months, they have been compelled to increase their selling force more than once, and they have found that their present offices are too small for the demands that are made on them, so they will move next Monday into their new quarters at 227 South Brand boulevard, where they will be able to take care of their rapidly growing business.

BUNGALOW COURT WILL BE ERECTED

Glendale Capitalist Plans Eleven Unit Project at Sparr Heights

A. E. Swain, of the Barnum-Walters Company's main office at Sparr Heights, announces the sale of the three lots comprising the triangle lying to the west of the school site in Sparr Heights, with a frontage of 280 feet, on Tujunga boulevard and 170 feet on Highland avenue and Escuela street, to H. A. Vahey of Glendale, who will proceed immediately to improve them with an artistic bungalow court.

This will consist of eleven units of Spanish design and stucco construction. The Tujunga boulevard front of the property will remain open in order that from each unit an unobstructed view of the greens of the Oakmont Country club and the Verdugo Hills beyond may be obtained. A park-like effect will be created in front of the court with a sunken pool with tropical plants in the center. This court will represent an outlay of over $50,000 and is but one of many building projects that will start immediately.

New Sales Record

The Glendale representative of Sparr Heights, D. F. Bowler, announces a new sales record. Yesterday's sales out of the Glendale office aggregated twenty-five lots amounting to $45,000. None of these lots were bought for speculation and on each one a home will be started within the next thirty days. Mr. Bowler reports a constantly increasing interest in Sparr Heights on the part of the buying public. The fact that discriminating purchasers have recognized the fact that, owing to its strategic location, a business center will necessarily develop at this point, has created a desire of homeseekers to establish their homes where they can not only enjoy the beauty of this charming environment but experience the advantages of having their domestic and economic needs fully met.

Sale of Vacant Lots Totals $577,000

The sales of vacant lots, both business and residence, and of acreage, sold for subdivision, have already reached $577,000, for the month of May, according to figures in the files of the publicity department of the Glendale Realty Board. This does not include the sale of any improved properties.

Acreage sold for subdivision aggregates $210,000 for the month, and most of this acreage will be subdivided and placed on the market immediately. The time is apparently not far distant when there will be no acreage adjacent to the City of Glendale which has not been subdivided and placed on the market in the form of residence and business lots.

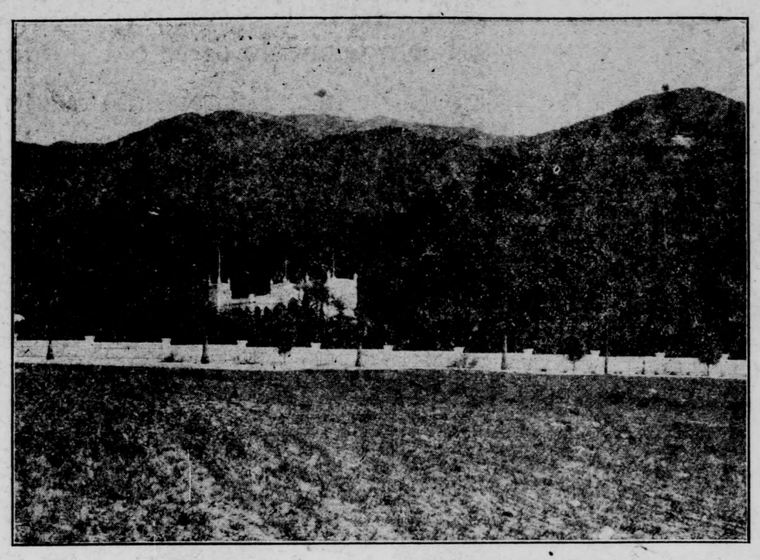
One of the most notable features of the recent sales made is that much of the capital invested is coming from outside investors, indicating the feeling that Glendale property is one of the surest profit-making investments.

Salesman's License Denied by Commission

Broker's or salesman's license to sell real estate in California was denied to W. S. Broderick of Chula Vista, San Diego county, by State Commissioner Edwin T. Keiser, for "selling two real estate contracts to an innocent third party without informing the third party of the facts as to the actual payments thereon but permitted the complainant, R. H. Pray, to estimate the value of the contracts upon the sale price and payments as stated in the contracts which sale price and down payments are admittedly not in accord with the facts." Broderick's hearing was in San Diego. R. M. Pray is a well-known contractor and realty dealer of Chula Vista and president of the realty board.

OUT-OF-TOWN BUYERS PURCHASE FOOTHILL SITES

Appeal Of Suburban Heights Rests On Solid Prosperity Basis



The famous Brand's Castle that overlooks Suburban Heights from its ideal location in the foothills north of Glendale

Last Saturday and Sunday witnessed one of the most convincing arguments for the future prosperity of Glendale. Fourteen out-of-town buyers purchased homesites in Suburban Heights, and these, with local buyers, completely cleaned out every lot for sale in the first unit of these particularly choice homesites.

"The building program now under way in the city of Glendale is ten times larger than what the average person believes it to be," said Alfred R. Johnson, salesmanager of the Suburban Realty company.

"Take the two new hotels and the new blocks of business buildings now under construction. These big projects in themselves furnish sufficient foundation to build a small city upon. The natural result from these and other similar projects created a much multiplied demand for homes and the choicest residential districts will naturally receive the first attention of buyers."

"Buyers of homesites in Suburban Heights are some of the biggest and most conservative business men in Glendale and Los Angeles. These men realize the tremendous growth that is coming to Glendale and the natural increase in property values. One has only to look back and see the increased prices during the last two years to realize what will happen during the next two years. Buyers of Suburban Heights lots, the choicest residential district in Glendale, must of necessity make a handsome profit on their present purchases at the exceedingly low prices and liberal terms.

Improvements All In

"Everything has been done to add charm, attraction and value to the property. Cement sidewalks and curbs, of the best material obtainable, paved streets that will remain in good condition for many years, shade trees that will beautify the streets, gas, water and electricity, have all been installed and completed without extra charge to buyers. Added to this the beautiful, scenic land upon which Suburban Heights has been built is heavily covered with large trees and vines.

"One of the most attractive features is that our property fronts directly on to Western avenue, which is to be one of the greatest boulevards in southern California, stretching from the distant ocean through the outer rim of the city, into the heart of the Glendale foothills, thence to the San Fernando Valley. That this wonderful project will greatly increase values of surrounding property is a foregone conclusion, and it is our opinion and the opinion of every one of the present owners of Suburban Heights property that homesites here will, in a very short time, command the highest prices in Glendale.

"There are a few exceptionally good purchases to be made in our Unit No. 2 and it behooves those who appreciate the future profit-making possibilities of Suburban Heights to make their selection early today or tomorrow."

Realty Legislation to Improve Conditions

real estate department. The actual cost of such examination to be borne by the owner. It is believed by regulars after examination by the lieved that this provision while throwing additional safeguards about investments of this character will prove an important stimulant in encouraging the better class of settlers to come to California and settle on farm and fruit lands of which there are approximately two million acres now under irrigation but not being cultivated.

Bond on Appeal

The law as amended, makes the real estate commissioner's power of revoking a license more effective than formerly. It does not take away the right of appeal but in order to continue in business, an appeal must be taken within a given time and a bond in the sum to be fixed by the court to which the appeal is taken, must be filed conditioned upon honest conduct of business during the pendency of the appeal, and all brokers will hereafter be required to furnish a surety bond in the sum of $2000.

The further provision for printing a directory containing the names of all licensees under the California Real Estate Department in the spring and fall of each year is provided for.

When the foregoing amendments become operative an effective real estate law will be upon the statute books, regulating the business so far as brokers are concerned and providing important safeguards against fraudulent handling of all real estate, thus protecting the investing public and aiding legitimate real estate brokers and constructive development enterprises.

MANY VISITORS TO COME HERE, RAILROADS REPORT

Sparr Heights Makes Preparations to Take Care of Investors; Large Sums to Be Spent in Building Fine Homes

THE announcement of the Santa Fe railroad of a special summer rate for travel to Southern California created such a demand for reservations, within a few hours from the time that it was published, that a train of sixteen sections had been completely filled and it was found necessary to declare that it would be run in twenty sections. Although the so-called "tourist travel" is popularly supposed to end with the spring months, the hegira to California will be as pronounced during the present summer as at any time during the entire year.

The focus of national interest today in business, home-making and industry is Los Angeles and its environs. This subject is so popular in every part of the United States that the Saturday Evening Post of May 12 has devoted six pages to an explanation of the phenomenal growth of this section. When it is remembered that the Post has a circulation of more than a million copies weekly, and a probable three million readers, and that its space is considered so valuable that a $7000 rate is received for each black and white page advertisement and $8500 for each color-page, some idea may be conceived of the importance that attaches to a news article for which the paper receives nothing but pays somebody to furnish.

Sparr Heights Prepares

At Sparr Heights preparation is being made to house some of these newcomers, and as the home-sites in this subdivision are so located that every advantage of climate, scenery and surroundings, for which the newcomer makes demand, may be fully realized evidences are already multiplying that the progress of this new community in the next few months will astonish and please its friends.

The sales of lots on May 9, in this choice tract, reached the record figure of $52,000 and upon every site sold on that date artistic private homes are to be immediately constructed, at a total cost of $240,000 for material. Building is to commence upon them within the next thirty days, Harris & Thayer of Long Beach being the purchasers of the property and having charge of the construction of the houses, which range in cost from $7000 to $8000. The deal was consummated through Mr. Bowler, the Glendale representative of Sparr Heights.

A. F. Swain of the main office on the tract, announces the sale of the three lots comprising the triangle lying to the west of the four and one half acres recently purchased by the Glendale school board for a school center. These lots have a frontage of 280 feet on Tujunga boulevard and 170 feet on Highland avenue and Escuela street. H. A. Vahey of Glendale was the purchaser, and will proceed immediately to improve the property with an artistic bungalow court.

Eleven Units

The plans call for the construction of eleven units of Spanish design, the material being stucco. The boulevard front of the property forms the base of an isosceles triangle of which the other two street fronts make the sides. As the units will follow the shape of the lot, there will be a wide lawn between the two rows, and this open front on the boulevard will allow a magnificent view over the green of the golf course and the beautiful hills beyond. This triangular lawn will contain a sunken pool, in the center and about it tropical plants will be grouped and a park-like effect be secured as a fitting foreground to this unique court. An expenditure of fifty thousand dollars is contemplated, and this is but one of the many building projects that will be started immediately in the tract.

Buy Realty and Be Independent Through Future

A MAN who can say, "I own my own home," is well on the way to fortune, for he has stopped the biggest gap in the dam that leaks away his earnings. And, furthermore, in his own home, a man is master. He can add to, take from, renovate, landscape, remodel, or in any way change or improve his property, without consulting or pleading with a landlord.

There are many good investments in southern California, but none as good as real estate. Values everywhere are steadily on the rise. There is only so much of this country, and when it is all gone, there can be no more. Hence the demand already is almost as great as the supply.

In Glendale and vicinity, particularly, is this true. There are many reasons why. The city is strategically located, with respect not only to Los Angeles but to Hollywood, Pasadena, Burbank and other points. It is wide-awake and rapidly growing. It is developing an industrial section with a big pay roll. It draws thousands of tourists. And there are other reasons and advantages, such as climate, altitude, water, fertility of soil, almost too numerous to mention.

Glendale is fast following the trail blazed by Long Beach and Hollywood. There are good reasons why it should surpass either of them in population and prosperity, within the next few years.

Take advantage of this situation and cut the Gordian knot that binds your pocketbook in slavery to the landlord. Visit the subdivisions in and about Glendale. Study them from your own personal angle. Then buy—now—while the prices are low—and establish not only your home but your independence.

MAKE RECORD SALES AT ORANGE GROVE TRACT

Dispose Of 118 Lots In Nine Weeks, With Two Salesmen; Pico Boulevard Tract Now Being Prepared for Sale

A RECORD of 118 lots sold in nine weeks, with only two salesmen on the job, is the closing report on the Wing Orange Grove tract. The report is made by Marvin Smith, tract manager, who, with Maurice Healey to assist, closed out this large parcel of centrally located property at a rate of over two lots a day, from the day the sale opened.

As Mr. Smith and Mr. Healey carried on the selling alone, this gives each of them a record of a lot a day for nine consecutive weeks, something probably unique in Glendale realty annals.

"Every lot, morover," Mr. Smith states, "was sold one-fourth cash and the balance in three years, and no concessions were made from first to last. This property was desirable and underpriced, and as a result was snapped up, most of it being bought by home-seekers."

"Progress from now on, in the Wing Orange Grove tract," says Mr. Healey, "will be very rapid. The fruit crop has been gathered and this will permit building operations to go along unhampered. Already a number of houses are well on to completion and others are going up immediately.

Under Market Values

"It is significant of the policy of Ben Sheldon and A. G. Smith, owners of the tract, that it was sold $500 under existing market values. These experienced subdividers prefer to price their properties so they will sell fast, and with little effort, rather than stick the prices up and then have to hammer away for an extended period, with many salesmen and an expensive campaign. They would rather let the buyers put that money in their own individual pockets.

"This policy will be carried out with the subdivision of the extensive Pico boulevard property recently acquired by the Sheldon-Smith interests. Prices on this property will absolutely be $500 below the market, for that locality. The tract is being prepared for subdivision at the present time."

Marvin Smith will be tract manager of the Pico boulevard property, which has not yet been named, and Maurice Healey will work with him, as on the Wing Orange Grove tract. Meanwhile, Mr. Healey will remain on the Wing tract office, 1200 East Colorado street, handling any resales and doing a general real estate business.

GREAT MODEL OF CITY BEING MADE

J. T. Edwards Is Completing Exhibit to Be Feature at Local Exposition

The clever work of J. T. Edwards, F. R. G. S. of 1213 North Brand boulevard, specialist in geographical and architectural models is receiving recognition in various parts of California and the United States and wherever a product of his skill is shown it bears a small plate bearing his name and Glendale, California.

And now the city of Glendale is to honor Mr. Edwards by featuring at the coming industrial exposition a great model of Glendale, which he is now working upon.

The Glendale model is nearing completion and will assuredly arouse considerable interest when placed on display. Probably no more comprehensive visualization of the city has been placed before the public than this model.

Nestles In Hills

Looking at the model from the south end one realizes how this delightful and wonderfully growing city nestles in the hills, which comprise the Verdugo mountains to the north, the San Rafael hills on the east and the hills of Griffith park on the southwest. As one looks at the model from this viewpoint the entrance to the San Fernando valley beyond Burbank is easily defined; while the Verdugo road winding between the Verdugo mountains and the San Rafael hills to Montrose marks it as one of the most important arteries leading to and from the city of Glendale.

In glancing over the city stretching out in miniature, one can see the new and attractive building that is being erected by the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, while the new high school buildings and all educational institutions, churches, public buildings and clubhouses can be readily picked out. The vast area surrounding them is covered with beautiful homes.

Vision of Future

From this model the public will be able to appreciate that the city of Glendale is indeed the fastest growing city in America, and the possibilities of its future development will be recognized by every visitor at the exhibition, for the model shows the surrounding area, a great deal of which has already been subdivided and offered to the future home-seeker who desires to make Glendale his permanent home.

The additional detail that will be given on this work will be all means of communication, banks and business blocks.

The model is to be mounted on a three foot base, covered with a canopy supported by fluted columns and a very attractive electric equipment will illuminate the model and the various buildings.

STORE BUILDING NEARLY FINISHED

L. H. Wilson Erects $6000 Structure Fronting on San Fernando

L. H. Wilson, realtor, of 1035 South San Fernando road is now completing a one-story $6,000 brick store building at 781 South San Fernando road which will be occupied by a retail shoe store and shoe repair shop. This will be operated by Joseph Caruso, who is now proprietor of a similar establishment in Hollywood.

The building has a frontage of 50 feet on the west side of San Fernando road and a depth of 60 feet. Most of the masonry has been completed and the walls are ready for the rafters. The ornamental front to be Spanish stucco.

ECONOMY CONTINUES

WASHINGTON, May 12.—President Harding intends no let-up in government economy as a result of the $60,000,000 surplus predicted by Budget Director Lord, it was declared officially at the White House.

The president intends to issue an appeal to all members of the government's business organization, to cut budgets wherever possible, so that the anticipated surplus may be increased.

Soon to Break Ground for New Bank Building

GROUND for the Glendale branch of the Security Trust & Savings bank, at the northeast corner of Brand boulevard and Broadway, will be broken within thirty days, it is announced.

This announcement follows the award of the structural steel contract to the Baker Iron Works, of Los Angeles. Delivery on this steel will be made within sixty days, thus eliminating any chance for costly delay during the erection of the structure.

This building, which is to cost $500,000, will be the largest in Glendale, states Architect Alfred F. Priest, who designed it, and will include a basement, main floor, mezzanine and five office floors. The office floors will comprise 114 offices, available for lease. The bank will occupy the basement, main floor and mezzanine. This building will front eighty-nine feet on Brand and eighty-six feet on Broadway.

Mr. Priest states that the architectural style of the big building is Italian Renaissance, the exterior faced with terra cotta and a base of black granite.

The interior will be equipped with high-speed elevators, a modern ventilation system, lounge and rest-rooms, locker-rooms for employes and other conveniences, making it one of the most up-to-date structures in the Southland.

The banking offices on the main floor will be fitted in marble wainscoting, Mr. Priest states, with bronze trimmings, giving an appearance at the same time of simplicity and stateliness.

The vaults in the basement will be of the most modern type procurable, massive and absolutely fireproof and thief-proof. There will be a safety-deposit vault, a currency vault and a book and record vault, each along the most advanced lines of construction.

A call for bids on general contracts will be sent out next week, it is stated.

Beautiful View Sites Being Purchased Investors Who See Great Opportunity i Excellent Scenic Property

THE last unit of Oakridge, opened Sunday, May 6, is selling rapidly, announces Frank Guillemin, of the Gui Investment company, owners and subdividers of the tr

"This unit comprises eighty-three beautiful view heavily wooded with eucalyptus, holly and other fine t states Mr. Guillemin, "and comprises some of the mo sirable residence property in Southern California.

"The tract has been laid out by one of the best engineers in the Southland, and offers a great variety of lots, no two the same, either in size or view. The many winding scenic drives, with their artistc scheme of ornamental light standards, greatly enhance the natural beauty of the tract, there being a total of over 3000 feet of these drives, all either already or soon to be developed with rock-macadam paving, curbs and concrete sidewalks, in addition to the light standards.

Natural Beauty

"So great is the natural beauty of the wooded tract that a botanist last year collected 150 specimens of grasses, flowers, plants, shrubs and trees, for an exhibit in the Southwest Museum, South Pasadena. As the total number of specimens on exhibit was only 450, some idea of the variety of plant life abounding on Oakridge may be had.

"Winter and summer, this tract is favored with a gentle sea breeze blowing through from the Los Feliz pass, which to the west it overlooks. Eastward, the view commands four separate ranges of the Sierra Madre mountains. To the north, the whole San Fernando valley is visible, studded in the foreground by hundreds of stately trees. And to the south, from the crest, Los Angeles, and beyond it the long stretch of the Pacific may be seen.

Close-in Property

"Oakridge is, moreover, only two blocks from Glendale avenue and three blocks from Brand boulevard, close to schools, stores, trolley and bus service, and but six miles from the business heart of Los Angeles.

"Prices of large lots are $2000 and up, including all stre provements, and with ample ing restrictions to maint high standards set and ins cided increases in value. ualizing architect will pass building plans and assist i ing out harmonious exteri each dwelling.

The Elevated Land at the Edge of the Mountains

The overwhelming demand for sites in Beautiful Bellehurst Park, Glendale, which is absorbing the FINAL HALF at a tremendous pace, proves conclusively that investors fully realize the truth of the caption above.

There is lots of flat land around Los Angeles. It offers ideal sites for low priced homes.

But ELEVATED LAND at the base of the foothills!—sites with tall mountains behind and the world at their feet—sites with magnificent and inspiring vistas to distant hills—THESE are the properties that will command FABULOUS PRICES as the tide of population comes pouring in.

In every city in the country, elevated land, commanding views, is eagerly sought by wealthy and well-to-do people for the finest homes. Recall Piedmont and the Berkeley Hills. Recall Pacific Avenue, San Francisco; Country club district, Kansas City; Roland Park, Baltimore, etc.

Just think of it, you who are seeking for money making investment with absolute safety—today you can buy in Bellehurst Park, the very cream of the wonderful elevated view sites around Los Angeles, even more beautiful than Beverly Hills and Hollywood, closer in time than Hollywood, AT ONLY ONE-THIRD THE PRICE.

Just imagine, as Glendale, the fastest growing city in the United States, builds up to 100,000, yes, to 200,000 population, the figures that this scarce and precious commodity will command.

Either sites in the almost-level fertile HIGHLANDS with 20-year-old orange and olive groves, or crests and knolls in the foothills, immediately adjacent, on winding roads, with wide sweeping and inspiring views.

This Is the Best Way to Bellehurst Park

BY AUTOMOBILE—Drive to Glendale via Los Feliz Boulevard, Glendale Boulevard, San Fernando Road or Colorado Boulevard until you reach Glendale's principal street, Brand Boulevard. Then turn north (toward the mountains) on BRAND BOULEVARD and continue through Glendale's business district to Mountain street, then 3 short blocks to the right to Bellehurst Park.

BY PACIFIC ELECTRIC—Take FRONT CAR of Glendale Line trains anywhere on 6th Street between Main and Figueroa. Get off at Mountain Street and walk 3 short blocks east.

Facts about the FINAL HALF of Beautiful Bellehurst Park

Hillside Villa Sites with wonderful views.

Permit Needed Before Building Fire in Forest

TO camp or build a fire in any of the national forests now it is necessary to have a permit from the forest service. This is a precaution that has been made necessary by the increase in number of forest fires each year.

Over a million and a half people visit the national forests right here in California every year, seeking pleasure and rest. All of these peopit naturally increase the fire hazard since, very unfortunately as it may seem, sixty per cent of the fires that occur each year are due to carelessness; hence the fire permit system. In the past ten years forest fires in this state alone have burned over 1,300,000 acres and caused damage amounting to more than $4,000,000.

Precaution is all that is asked. If every one of the million and a half people who enter the forests during 1923 would be careful, put out fires, watch their smoking and the like, this huge yearly loss would naturally be cut down considerably.

At any rate, the forest department is doing everything in its power to secure this delightful end. These camp permits are not hard to secure, but they tend to make the individual take some of the responsibility themselves.

Let's keep the forests intact this year.

No more fires.

Ten Million People To Heed Road Call

More than 10,000,000 tourists will answer the call of the open road and take to the motor highways during the touring season of 1923.

It has been conservatively estimated that 2,500,000 car owners will take advantage of the splendid highways which have been constructed during the past several years and visit America's beauty spots to be found in almost every one of the forty-eight states and Canada.

By estimating that each car owner has four in the family including himself, the total of over 10,000,000 tourists is conservatively arrived at.

Business institutions of all kinds will share in the great distribution of money which will be expended, and hotels, garages, automobile accessory stores, department and clothing stores will all benefit thereby.

CLUB IN PLEA TO SECURE COURTESY

'Unwritten Laws' of Road Necessary and Should Be Strictly Followed

Do "unwritten laws" apply to motorists as well as to those people involved in marital difficulties? Home protection does not differ from auto production when it comes to the "unwritten law" of the road, say officials of the Auto Club of Southern California. There are a great many unwritten laws applying to the conduct of auto drivers which are just as important as the laws contained in the state statutes or city ordinances, it is pointed out.

If every motorist will observe the unwritten law of courtesy, auto accidents will be cut fifty per cent, says the Southern California club. Unwritten laws for motorists have sprung up between drivers as man to man, just as there are unwritten laws covering dining room table etiquette.

You do not eat with your knife at the table although there is no state law which says you should not cut your throat if you want to—by mistake.

Lights Big Probem

Glaring headlights form a problem which so seriously affects the safety of motorists on the highways at night, that the greatest minds in practically every state in America have devoted their energy to finding some written law which would stop the glare. So far, on account of the immense number of cars operating, no absolutely effective check on glaring headlights has been found.

It is now almost an unwritten law that motorists should arrange their headlights in such a way that they will not blind those coming toward them. It is an act of selfish discourtesy to have one's car equipped with glaring headlights, says the auto club. Although there is a state law in California providing for the arrangement of headlights so they will not glare, it is very difficult of enforcement, and a great deal depends upon the thoughtful courtesy of motorists in the matter. However, those motorists who continue using glaring headlights will find that the law will grab them by the throat some day when they least expect it!

Failing to give the right of way when there is any doubt in the matter is a violation of the unwritten law of courtesy, even if you seem to be right.

'THE CALL OF THE OPEN ROAD'

Camping Scene in Ventura Mountains

Fishing at the Rainbow Trout Club near Redlands.

The open season is on for automobiles, is the import of an announcement made by George T. Smith, president of the Glendale Motor Car Dealers' Association, naming May 13 to 19 as "Call of the Open Road Week." In line with this announcement comes the word that plans for a fitting observation of the week have been forwarded to automobile men throughout this section of the state, as a prelude to vacation time and an antidote to the malady "spring fever," said to be very prevalent now. Talented speakers will broadcast "The Call of the Open Road" to the public from various radio stations; newspaper advertising columns will be employed; and merchants will cooperate with show-window displays which will further remind the motorist that California's superb boulevards have been brought up to their highest degree of perfection and put at his service; while the many seaside and mountain resorts are dressed in gala garb, ready to receive the large delegations who will escape for a while the pent-up life of city and town and restore their peace of mind by ocean or canyon. To the aggressive automobile men goes the credit for this annual celebration which has come to be as well known in southern California as the Tournament of Roses and the San Gabriel Mission Play. Thousands who otherwise would never have ventured far afield, have piled their families into their cars, be they ancient or modern, and have clambered back of the steering wheel, stepped on the gas, in answer to "The Call of the Open Road"—learning thereby a love for the glorious outdoor life of California that only personal experience can give.

Facts On Open Road Week

THIRD ANNUAL CELEBRATION of the Call of the Open Road, under auspices Motor Car Dealers' Association. Dates—May 13 to 19 inclusive.

Open road committee of the Automobile Dealers' Association composed of Robert S. Breyer, chairman, and Winslow B. Felix. Details of Southern California Open Road program under direction of Burt Roberts, manager of the Los Angeles Motor Car Dealers' Association. Glendale dealers take active part in event.

Purpose of the festival—To herald the formal opening of the 1923 touring season and call the attention of the public to the fact that vacation time is at hand.

A state-wide movement—The Open Road festival, started three years ago by the Los Angeles automobile men has become a state-wide movement, being celebrated by every city in the state and bids fair to become national, inasmuch as several of the large automobile manufacturers have evidenced their intention of designating a National Open Road week some time in May to be celebrated by the automobile men in all parts of the country.

Cooperation of other merchants—Business men in all lines of merchandising endeavor have joined hands with the automobile men in making this year's Open Road event one that will benefit all lines of business endeavor.

They are arranging for special window displays, special advertisements and special attractions, to call attention to the joys of the open road and the features that add pleasure to motoring, camping, hunting and fishing.

TOMBSTONES WARN

A tombstone four feet high with the word "Dangerous" at the top and a skull and crossbones on the side has been erected near a dangerous curve on the Pottstown pike in Pennsylvania as a reminder to reckless motorists on the highway. At the base of the tombstone are the words, "Fourteen miles to the nearest hospital."

INSPECT CONNECTIONS

The radiator hose connections in the water system of the engine should be frequently inspected. Oftentimes these hose connections look fair on the outside. When the walls of the hose become decayed, they have a tendency to swell and close, thereby preventing proper circulation.

CALL OF OPEN WILL LURE MOTORIST

Auto Dealers and Merchants Co-operate to Make Event Complete Success

Hundreds of automobile dealers throughout Southern California are joining hands this week with business men and merchants in all lines of commercial endeavor in the formal celebration of the Third Annual Call of the Open Road week, which really heralds the formal opening of the summer touring season.

The annual celebration of a week in the month of May as an Open Road Week, during which time the joys and delights of California touring would be called to the attention of the motoring public throughout the state, was started by the Los Angeles Automobile Dealers' association three years ago, and since that time the magnitude and importance of the event have grown with each succeeding Call of the Open Road week.

May 13 to 19 inclusive, have been set as the dates for the Open Road week festivities this year and the co-operation between the automobile dealers of the state and merchants in other lines of endeavor means that the event this year will have an even more widespread import than in times past.

Campaign for Call

Window displays calling attention to the various kinds of sport clothes that go with the long motor trip; fishing and hunting equipment; outdoor paraphernalia of all sorts, and a thousand and one automobile accessories, that add to the joys of summer camping, will be featured by merchants.

Many of the automobile dealers are using the week to display to the best advantage their new sport models, and efforts are being made by resorts and hotels in the mountain fastnesses of the state, or at the beaches, to call especial attention to their advantages as vacationing places.

Manager Burt Roberts of the Los Angeles Car Dealers' association, who has been working with Chairman Robert S. Breyer of the Dealers' committee in plans for the Open Road week festival, declares that the week can be used to advantage by the general public and by chambers of commerce throughout the state to further advertise the wonderful advan-

4-Wheel Brakes and Doughnut Tires Due

DETROIT, May 12.—In a prophetic mood, E. V. Rickenbacker declares that the automobile of two years hence will be fitted with "doughnut" tires, practically eliminating the wheel; will have four-wheel brakes and smaller engines. The use of the big casing, he thinks, will mean that the large tire will be placed on the hub and brake rim, which probably will be integral, and that steel wheels—if the remnant that will remain can be called a wheel—will be universaly used. In the way of power plants, he names the four, six and eight, all in a line.

Urges Tear Gas for Fighting Auto Fumes

A former officer of the Chemical Warfare Service has suggested the introduction of a drop or two of tear gas into the carburetors to prevent the increasing deaths in winter from carbon monoxide poisoning in garages. The tear gas, discharged through the automobile exhaust, would warn the motorist warming up his engine if the air was becoming dangerously impregnated with the deadly carbon monoxide. When the motorist began to cry, he would know that it was time for him to leave.

Trout Fishing Calls Many to Open Road

When the Open Road calls, as it does invariably in the early and late spring, the first thought of the average lover of the outdoors is of beach or mountain. Trout fishing de luxe may be found at a thousand places in Southern California—on the Owens river, in Ventura county, big ones at Big Bear and Arrowhead lakes.

Just beyond Cajon pass lie Big Bear lake, Arrowhead lakes and the Rim of the World country. There you may find mountain scenery of every variety with cabin or hotel accommodations to suit the taste of the most fastidious.

These are but a few of the delightful places that beckon the Southern California motorist during the "Call of the Open Road" week.

Southland Auto Trade Shows Tax Increase

Southern California internal revenue collections on various automotive products during March show large increases over the same month a year ago. Motor truck makers paid eighty-seven —will be universally used. In accessory makers forty-five per cent more, representing sales of $1,159,000; and motorcycle makers thirty-four per cent more.

"What Do You Mean?--- Period of Vibration"

Customers often ask this—and here's the answer:

In every car you have ever driven there were one or more intervals at which everything vibrated violently.

Starting in the motor, this vibration affected every part of the car.

At lower speeds it was not noticeable—at higher speeds it disappeared for a time, then reappeared perhaps at another interval.

These are known to engineers as "periods of vibration."

"Sixes" usually have one such period.

"Eights" one or two.

"Fours" almost invariably two, and often three periods at which vibration is excessive.

Since the advent of the first crude gasoline motor, engineers have striven to eliminate "periods" of vibration.

For this is the most destructive force in a motor—and to a chassis; most unpleasant to the occupants.

Rickenbacker succeeded in totally eliminating all periods of vibration in this product.

The double flywheel accomplished this.

Ten minutes at the wheel will be a revelation to you.

But don't delay. Demand is tremendous. Place your order now.

PROPER CARE OF BATTERY NEEDED

Trouble Usually Comes From Lack of Attention to Vital Part

"When the battery in a car gives the owner trouble it is usually a safe bet that the owner has not given in the proper attention and care," says Claude Roudebush, local manager of the Western Auto Supply Company. "The battery is of as great importance as the tires or the engine and requires a regular inspection in order to keep it in perfect condition. Negligence on the part of the owner will always result in the non-performance on the part of the battery. Just because it is hidden away under the seat or out of sight is no reason why it should be forgotten. When a person starts on a tour, he always tests the tires and sees that they are in the best of shape, but seldom gives the battery the same consideration. This, however, we have found to be forgetfulness rather than negligence, as the average car owner really knows the value of his battery and knows that it should be tested and filled, yet it slips his mind.

Remind Motorist

"We have made it a point in our electric department to remind the motorist of the care of his battery, and ask him if he has tested it lately and advise him as to the general care of this important unit.

"When the Western Auto Supply Company decided to enter the battery field we gave much thought and study to the needs of the motorist. When we built the Wizard battery and placed it on the market, we did so with the intention of putting a high quality battery of guaranteed "mileage" within the reach of every motorist.

"The old theory that a battery must be expensive in order to be of high quality rapidly gave way with our placing of this battery before the motoring public. To carry out the policy of our organization we make these batteries and distribute them through our chain of seventy stores—from the manufacturer direct to the car owner," concluded Claude Roudebush.

DRIVES LINCOLN FOR NEW RECORD

Cannonball Baker Sets Up New Figures for Dash of 380 Miles

Erwin "Cannonball" Baker, king of the transcontinental road drivers, added another record to his already long list, April 10-11, when he drove a Lincoln stock touring car over the dusty paths between Indianapolis and Chicago for new one-way and round-trip marks.

The big eight-cylinder car virtually leaped away into the night at 10:30, on the 10th, from the starting point, Casino Gardens, for the 380-mile grind and never faltered during the entire grueling run. The round trip to Chicago and return was completed in 7 hours, 43 minutes, 15 seconds, breaking the former record of 9 hours, 15 minutes, established in 1917.

The "Cannonball" broke his own one-way record of 3 hours, 42 minutes, made with a special car in 1916, by doing the return trip from Chicago, 190.4 miles in 3-41-15.

Two Lincoln salesmen of Indianapolis and a press representative rode with Baker. The car used was strictly stock, stripped of top and shield, and carrying an extra gas tank.

On completing the run at Indianapolis, the radiator was only lukewarm and a hand could be rested on it indefinitely, despite the fact that the motor had been maintaining the high average of 54.4 for more than seven hours.

The average speed made by Baker is astonishing when it is considered that more than 600 turns were made, 88 railroads were crossed and a rough and winding detour of 8 miles was necessary.

L. H. Wilson, the well-known Glendale realtor, is a recent purchaser of a Lincoln car, through the Jesse E. Smith agency, 115 West Colorado street.

CONSTRUCTION OF OLDS CAR SHOWN

Up-Ended Oldsmobile Is a Magnet for Motorists On West Broadway

C. H. Huntr, of the Oldsmobile agency, 208 West Broadway, says that he has helped arrange many sales-room displays, but none have ever attracted more people than the up-ended Oldsmobile he has in his salesroom.

The way the car is placed gives one an idea of how a car is built, from the under side, showing the wonderful 7-inch frame the Olds has, with its 8-inch front cross member, 6-inch center member and heavy gusset plates, riveted to the cross section, across on an angle to the main frame, making it practically impossible to let the frame weave and strain the body.

That is the reason, states Mr. Hunter, that even the older model Oldsmobiles do not rattle and squeak like some cars with lighter frames.

LOOSE RIMS

A wobbly rim is sometimes mistaken for a loose wheel. Inspect the rims first, and if they are found to be out of line, loosen the lugs and take them up again, giving each a turn in succession to equalize the alignment.

Few crazes for furs outlast six

Tires Lasting Longer Is Shown by Survey

A recent tire survey brings out the fact that the demand for tires in 1922 averaged 2.17 tires per car, as compared with 4.85 in 1916.

The decreased requirements are explained by the fact that cord tires have almost completely supplanted fabrics on all cars other than the smaller ones. Consequently, motorists today are getting a great deal more service from tires than they did five or six years ago.

PUT CAR IN GEAR

Leaving the car in gear when parking on a hill is not sufficient protection against its coasting away. Low compression in the cylinders will allow the weight of the car to turn the engine over. This occasional jerking of the machine may be sufficient to force the shift lever into "neutral." Always use the emergency brake, too, and point the wheels in toward the curb.

PRICE TREND OF CARS IS UPWARD

Advance in Materials Is Reflected in Cost of Autos, Claimed

The imperative necessity for prospective automobile purchasers to place their orders without any delay is stressed by C. A. Dilley, of Dilley & Armstrong, Star distributors, 115 West Harvard street, who states that the increase in every class of raw materials is causing a steady, upward trend in prices that is bound to be reflected in practically every car in the country, sooner or later. Several makers have already advanced their prices and others are said to be contemplating advances in the near future.

The prosperity that is prevalent all over the United States today is also one of the contributing factors to the present shortage of cars, Mr. Dilley says, as so many persons now find themselves in a position where they can afford to buy new cars, and for this reason it is imperative that orders should be placed as far ahead as possible.

The sale of fifteen cars by the Star agency last week is an indication of the present trend, and in spite of the fact that the manufacturers are turning out 100 cars daily, the Star selling organization here and elsewhere is behind on deliveries.

KEEP TIRES UP

A tire run underinflated is more subject to a stone bruise or brused blowout than one properly inflated, due to the fact that the indentation or stretching of the fabric will take place much easier when the tire is soft.

SERVICE STATION PROVES POPULAR

Treat Customers Right and Do Efficient Work, Are Two of Slogans

The Broadway Auto Super Service, opened at 814 East Broadway April 1, has enjoyed a gratifying growth in the little over a month it has been in operation, reports C. H. Messenger, one of the partners in the enterprise.

F. R. Pierce and F. A. Pratt are the other partners, behind whose thriving business is the faithfully adhered to slogan, "Service That Satisfies."

Three departments of this service station are now in operation, gas and oil, tires and batteries, lubrication.

Hercules gas and standard oils are carried, together with Kelly Springfield and Miller tires and Cooper batteries. A complete stock of accessories is also carried. The Alemite lubrication system has been installed.

"We are here for service," states Mr. Messenger, speaking for himself and partners. "A feature of our station is free road service on tires and batteries. In other words, we charge no more to come out to your car on the road and render tire or battery service than we would if you brought your car in to us.

"We are aiming to treat ou customers right and are doing everything in our power to make this service station mean what the words imply. As an example of the way we try to serve, we keep our air and water turned on day and night, so that a motorist can always get filled up at 814 East Broadway.

NASH SPORT CAR CLASSY PRODUCT

New Model's Thoroughbred Style Boosts Sales to High Notch

"The classiest Sport car on the market" is the description that E. B. Sutton, manager of the Glendale Nash Sales, 112 South Maryland, applies to the new model of the Nash Sport that he is showing and selling in such numbers this season that he finds it almost impossible to secure enough of this model from the factory to keep abreast of his orders.

The word "class," Mr. Sutton declares, has been abused in its application to a lot of things, but there is no other word in the language that fits the Nash Sport so closely. From the handsome maroon body, the beautifully upholstered interior with the latest equipment and refinements, the powerful valve-in-head motor under the hood, clear through to every piece of the mechanism, the Nash Sport embodies everything that goes to the making of a thoroughbred in motordom. The aristocratic appearance of the car attracts the eye of the lovers of the beautiful, and the performance of the machine makes quick converts of the motor-wise wherever the Nash Sport is shown.

OVERLAND SHOWS RED BIRD MODEL

English Type Car Displayed At George T. Smith Sales Rooms Tonight

The creation of a new type of automobile is the sensation that has been sprung on the motoring world by the Willys-Overland corporation, with the new model that is now being delivered to dealers, the Red Bird, a car of an English type that has been taking the country by storm wherever it has been displayed.

The Red Bird has been built with one end in view, to span the price chasm between the cars that sell up to $500 and those that begin again around $800, at their respective factories, and the price at which it is placed on the market will, it is claimed, give it practically a monopoly in this field.

H. S. Culver, president of the Willys-Overland Pacific company of Los Angeles, has just returned from the eastern factory and has brought the news of the new car to the southern California dealers, instilling them with an enthusiasm that promises to set a new record for sales in this territory.

Geo. T. Smith, 228 South Brand boulevard, agent for the Willys-Overland lines, has arranged to display the Red Bird at his showrooms this evening to everyone who is interested in seeing the latest creation, when the handsome Mandalay maroon body, the sweeping lines that speak of riding comfort and speed, the exquisite finish of the car, and the new and improved motor are expected to place the Red Bird in instant favor with Glendale motorists.

The production of the Willys-Overland corporation is now almost twice that of the previous highest production in its history, with an output of 1500 cars daily, and this total will be surpassed during all the other months of this year, according to the local agents. The proven success of the firm's output is reflected in the sales of the Model 91 Overland and the Overland Red Bird.

MOTOR TYPIFIES WORLD PROGRESS

Sum of Human Knowledge Of Mechanics Embodied In Automobile

"The automobile is unique in that it represents the sum total of all that men have learned about mechanical engineering," says Lyman P. Clark of the Glendale Motor Car company, 124 West Colorado street, Maxwell and Chalmers dealers. "Few people stop to realize that it took humanity thousands of years to learn enough to build an automotive vehicle.

"One could take one of our late model Maxwell or Chalmers cars apart and find in its marvelous mechanism the principles that have been discovered and applied all along through the centuries since man first bored a hole in a round piece of wood and made a wheel.

"The automobile represents the most perfect expression of many of these mechanical principles. The first man to make and use a wheel never dreamed of a pneumatic tire or a full-floating axle or a perfect bearing. The chariot wheels found in the tomb of old King Tut were made of gold. There were no soft springs on that chariot; it rode right on the axle. What a rough old ride King Tut must have had. The first man to discover power never dreamed of an internal combustion engine. But, step by step these principles and many others were developed until today the perfect co-ordination of them in a vehicle that millions may use and enjoy brings the world fairly into the age of mechanical marvels.

"For these reasons we are always glad to show automobiles and talk autos to anybody. A car is a wonderful thing which man himself has made. Everybody ought to know and fully appreciate its amazing powers."

CUT DOWN GEARS

Dust and dirt on front glasses and reflectors cut down the efficiency of headlamps. Therefore, periodic cleaning should be resorted to. Old and blackened lamp bulbs give greatly diminished candlepower and should be renewed.

Call of Open Road To Lure Many Folk

tages of Southern California as a motorists' paradise.

"I frankly do not believe that there is a place in the world that offers the number of tours over good roads to such wealth of different attractive localities as is afforded the California motorist within a 150-mile radius of Los Angeles.

Hearty Co-operation

"It is partly for the purpose of calling this fact to the attention of the public that the dealers throughout the state have received the hearty co-operation of merchants in all lines of business activity, for they realize the importance of the advertising that naturally comes to Southern California from such an Open Road celebration."

California's annual Open Road week has been discussed throughout the entire country and has aroused no end of favorable comment in the East. In fact, according to word received here, many of the more prominent of the eastern automobile manufacturers are considering the possibility of securing the endorsement of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce on an Open Road week, with dates late in May, which shall be celebrated throughout the entire United States.

The purpose is to formally let the general public know that the touring season is at hand and that summer vacation time is here. This move on the part of the National Automobile Dealers would do much to stimulate early summer touring and would send tens of thousands of vacationists on their trips with better equipment and better plans for the summer vacation jaunt.

—But You Can't Ride on the Paint!

Imitation diamonds can be made to look so real and sparkle so brightly that it is difficult to tell them from the genuine.

But try to sell one and you will find out its real worth in a flash.

Same with automobiles. Weaknesses of construction in a closed car can be hidden, for a time, with paint and varnish and fancy fittings. But all is not quality that glitters.

You can't ride on the paint. And when you place such a car in the second hand market, you suffer a heavy depreciation because it lacked real intrinsic value at the outset. Use will never improve a mediocre product.

The second hand floor is the melting pot for automobile values. Cars are stripped of artificial values and only inherent worth counts.

Motor car owners tell us that the trade-in value of any Studebaker car at the end of three or four or five years of useful life is greater than on any other car built today—the percentage of depreciation is the lowest.

No wonder the Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is the fastest selling quality Sedan in the world!

The name Studebaker stands for quality, durability, comfort and integrity.

Four wide-opening doors. Eight-day clock. Quick-action cowl ventilator. Attractive coach lamps. Heater. Mohair velvet plush upholstery. Glare-proof visor and windshield cleaner. Dome light. Thief-proof transmission lock.

2000 MILE TEST ON EL PASO RUN

Rough Desert Roads Prove Economy Claims of Chevrolet Car

The sterling worth of the Chevrolet was proved in a 2,000-mile run that carried Howard Rose, 350 West Doran street, an agent of the Prudential Insurance Company, back to El Paso, Texas, and home again, over some of the roughest roads in the southwest, roads that included stretches of deep sand that tried his engine to the utmost, roads that were compounded of chuck holes, washes and similar obstacles, and through all of which the Chevrolet came with flying colors.

The stretch between Phoenix and Salome, Ariz., "where she danced" and where Dick Wick Hall tries to teach his pet frog to swim in the intervals of philosophizing and editing a newspaper, offered some of the hardest going of the entire trip. Claims that have been made for the economical operation of the Chevrolet were more than sustained by Mr. Rose's car, which averaged slightly over twenty-eight miles per gallon of gasoline and 500 miles to the quart of oil, a record for the country that he traveled over that is regarded as remarkable.

One of the side trips that Mr. Rose made was to Roosevelt dam, in southern New Mexico, and immediately on his return he hunted up C. L. Smith, Orange and Colorado, the Chevrolet agent here, to acquaint him with the performance of the car.

STUDEBAKER HAS NEW CLOSED CAR

Five Passenger Coupe Body On Special Six Chassis, Is Introduced

An important addition to the Studebaker line, the Special-Six five-passenger coupe, has just been announced.

This model is distinguished by its beauty of line and finish and excellence of body construction, the completeness and high quality of its equipment and the fact that it is mounted on the standard Special-Six chassis. The price is $1,975, f. o. b. factory.

The new Special-Six Coupe seats five passengers in perfect comfort. The rear seat extends across the full width of the body, while the driver's seat and the auxiliary seat are of the bucket type and are identical in design and cushioning. Upholstery is in plain, rich tones of highest grade mohair velvet plush. Hardware and fittings are of beautiful silver satin finish.

The body is of Studebaker design and construction and in every detail will be found evidence of the highest quality of materials, specifications of ample dimensions and painstaking craftsmanship. Studebaker's seventy-one years' experience in building highest grade vehicles is reflected in the body work.

The Special-Six five-passenger coupe carries a large trunk at the rear with dust-proof cover of the button-on type as standard equipment.

NERACAR SOLVES TRAVEL ECONOMY

Single Passenger Problem Met by Two Wheeled Automobile

"How long should a man's legs be?" Abraham Lincoln answered. "Long enough to reach from his body to the ground."

"How many wheels are necessary to transport one passenger?" "Two!" emphatically answers John Sturgess, manager of the Two Wheel Auto Company, lately established for the exclusive sales of Neracars, with showroom at 715 South Brand boulevard, Glendale. "People are beginning to realize that it is highly wasteful to run a car weighing between one and two tons just to carry one passenger weighing less than two hundred pounds. Traffic experts know that the demand for 100 square feet of road surface per passenger is what causes our traffic jams and parking problems. Count the vast number of cars you see carrying one passenger, often to run relatively short distances and then stand in the sun all day, depreciating both paint and tires more than is done by the actual riding.

"The mission of the Neracar is economical and pleasurable transportation for discriminating men and women. It instantly appeals to those who would not for a moment think of riding an ordinary motorcycle, on account of its neat and dignified appearance, perfect control at all speeds and easy riding qualities. It is intended for those who cannot afford the maintenance and depreciation of automobiles, and also for those who own cars for family use but need additional transportation for individual members of the family."

Two-Wheel Auto

The Neracar is more correctly described as a two-wheel auto than as a motorcycle, for it is radically different from all known motorcycles. The power plant is completely housed under a hood like an automobile, and this, together with the ample fenders, assures complete cleanliness in riding. There is no machinery or bar to straddle so either men or women can mount without effort. The frame is of automobile pressed steel channel type construction and an entirely new steering gear has been developed which eliminates the usual fork construction of the two-wheel machine, taking all vibration off the handle bar and permitting the use of flexible springs on the front wheel.

The power plant consists of a two-cycle valveless engine of two and a half horsepower, ample for the steepest hills in view of the weight of the machine being only 175 pounds. A five-speed friction drive is provided, enabling speeds of from five to thirty-five miles per hour to be obtained with comfort. A magneto type generator is mounted in the flywheel, serving for both lights and ignition. There is no battery to replace, starting being effected by a very simple foot-starter. A good muffler insures silent operation, and the exterior appearance compares in design and finish with the best automobiles.

106 Miles Per Gallon

Perhaps the most remarkable thing about the Neracar is its unparalleled economy. A record of 106 miles per gallon has been obtained, and from eighty-five to 100 miles is customary. This means that 500 miles of riding is obtained for the sum of $1, the cheapest motor transportation ever known.

Its sturdiness was proven by Cannonball Baker riding a stock machine from New York to Los Angeles in seven and one-quarter days' riding time, weighing, with his equipment, 226 pounds.

John Sturgess, who has had long experience in the automobile field, and is an engineer of wide reputation, believes the Neracar will find a ready reception in Glendale, and go far towards meeting its transportation needs.

MAJOR LEAGUERS TURN TO BUICKS

Stars in Big Show Turn to Leaders in Motordom in Buying Cars

The old proverb, to the effect that birds of a feather flock together, is borne out, according to Ray L. Galvin, sales manager of Tanner & Hall, Ltd., 237 South Brand, by the number of big league baseball stars who have become Buick fans this season.

A list that the firm is showing in its office here shows that some of the best known players of the national game in both the American and National leagues have adopted the Buick this year, some of them for the first time and others who are repeaters, and he contends that a top-notcher in one line of business naturally desires to associate himself with the leaders in any other line. Hence the demand for Buicks among the stars of the diamond. Among the coast stars who have bought Buicks is Marty Krug, manager of the Los Angeles team, who recently bought a Buick from Tanner & Hall.

Every one of the players shown on the list bats over .300, the average in the field runs to .970, and the combination of players and cars forms one that can challenge the world, according to Mr. Galvin.

Earliest known rings were found in tombs of ancient Egypt.

A Proper Solution

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

When Mr. Martinson returned me from work, out of habit he pped noiselessly through the l and entered his library. Then remembered there was no need the usual precautions. Indeed, hea pof newspapers piled be- e his chair from the evening ore told of the absence of ma and of the new freedom ich was his. Mr. Martinson ked his feet on the table, a ng he had never dared do, and nned with an almost evil en- ment as he crammed his pipe of tobacco. A new thought ck him. Why not?

Mr. Martinson whistled, shrilled, he unaccustomed house, a popr air of fifteen years ago. His yment was complete.

I suppose," said Martinson, "I have to hire a housekeeper." wondered what Minden would k if a strange woman moved the home over which his sister ma had presided for so many s. Emma had married, with- so much as letting her brother w of the romance she kept e through years of waiting un- he time had come.

Mr. Martinson had seen her to station. He had wept a bit n she departed. And then he brated. The bachelor brother, silent occupant of the prem- of a strong-minded woman, at last he was free. Now he ld have to get a housekeeper. would have to be, he told self, an unusually respectable an. How did a man go about ask a woman to enter his e and take charge? Mr. Mar- n blushed and felt strangely arrassed. Then he thought of Adeline. She would help ss Adeline knitted her pretty . "It is difficult to find just right person for the place," nswered.

e problem was solved when Adeline introduced Tony and Angelo to Mr. Martinson. r house is so large," she said, could easily install a man wife. In that way things l look better and, anyway, it best I can do."

e will all be one family at r," Mr. Martinson announced e three sat down. "I want rmality in the place. I will ft alone in the library. At r we meet."

sa prepared Italian dinners kind to cause wonder and ation, and Tony each evening ed for dinner in a way to his host. With better ac- tance he essayed to hold his end of the conversation—a fatal step, for Tony could not talk for long without involving Rosa in an argument.

"You are wrong, dear," she would say, and at once the excitable Tony would expostulate, jump from his chair and loose a torrent of oratory. All the while he pulled at his long black hair and implored the heavens to bear him witness. With the indulgent and admiring air of one who enjoyed the performance of her beloved master, Rosa beamed on the pyrotechnics. When Tony subsided she always remarked. "Now go brush your hair." The man who had been fiery became obedient and humble and, as if there had been no interruption, the dinner was resumed.

Only once in a while did Tony's oratory arouse the dramatic nature in the gentle Rosa. On these occasions she would join him in his brisk and fitful walks, out-talk and out-gesticulate him.

"You do not love me," Rosa declared as a climax to the act, and Tony, taking the cue, extended his arms. It was domestic and effective, the wondering Mr. Martinson decided, but trying, quite as if he were being made to take his meals on the stage of a grand opera house. So Tony and Rosa had to go.

Then Miss Adeline hired a tall and thin woman given to weeping and sniffling. Mr. Martinson decided he could stand the tears, but no power on earth could reconcile him to the sniffs. Selma went the way of Rosa, and the bachelor became desperate.

"I'll call on Miss Adeline again," he decided. "Don't like to call on women, as a rule, but when there is a given subject to talk about it isn't so bad."

Mr. Martinson sat in Miss Adeline's living room and noticed how neat everything was. When she came in he was struck by the simplicity and grace of her gown. Mr. was meant for a housekeeper. Mr. Martinson thought of Miss Adeline taking care of his home and he blushed again. There had been a time when he had thought of that before, and he had decided it was his place to take care of his sister. But—well, maybe he wasn't so old.

"I'm not looking for a housekeeper, honest," he surprised himself by his boldness. "What I am looking for is a sort of manager. Some one who can step in and hire the servants and—well, sort of make me toe the mark. I want a wife, Adeline!"

'Of course you do," said Miss Adeline.

After the happy suitor had departed, Miss Adeline smiled. "I am glad," she said, "he discovered what he needed before I had to look up any more impossible servants."

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

My Dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a stamped envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose four cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, not over 200 words, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget to enclose the s. a. s. e. if you ask for an article.

"Dear Doctor:

"I have very painful feet. They are so stiff and sore I must use a cane. I feel fine other ways. I have taken patent medicines but they have not helped.—Mrs. H."

My dear, of course patent medicine can't cure you. It's doubtful if patent medicine ever cured anything. From your description I should judge you had fallen arches or flat feet. You should go to an orthopedic surgeon and have him give you directions.

If you will dip your feet in water and then stand on the bare floor, you will probably find that there is an imprint of the whole soles of your feet left on the floor. In the imprint of a normal foot there should be a big hole on the inner side where the arch of the foot does not touch the floor.

The treatment would consist of proper shoes, massage, exercise and support of the foot by artificial means. Sometimes the feet have to have complete rest.

I shall write a full article on this soon. Meanwhile you had better see an orthopedic surgeon for detailed treatment.

Mrs. S.—You say your sister has dropsy and Bright's disease and is about 40 pounds overweight, and you want to know if it will be all right for her to go on a reduction regime. Will it be all right! I'll say it will!

Dropsy and Bright's disease are not pleasant things to have. Many times they can be avoided. Undoubtedly in the accumulation of forty pounds excess weight these conditions have also accumulated.

Your sister should have no salt at all. If she is taking, as you say, two quarts of milk a day, then she is getting 1280 C's of food a day. At that rate she couldn't have much else if she is going to reduce her weight. We have thousands of testimonials to that effect.

Send a self-addressed envelope and four cents in stamps to me, in care of this paper, and we will send you the reducing pamphlet.

"Dear Doctor:

"I am five pounds overweight and am writing for your article on reducing. I come from a heavyweight family and I refuse to look like any of them.

"My husband has had eczema on his chin for two years. He hasn't had much results with salves. We were so interested in your article about the baby's eczema and the effects of different foods. Now he is cutting out eggs and is having good results.—I. S."

You are a wise girl, Mrs. S., in refusing to look like any of your family. No aspersions on them except on their heavy weight.

It is possible that your husband's eczema is barber's itch. That's a different story. Barber's itch (sycosis) is due to a germ infection. Of course, with eczema there is a secondary germ infection also.

In most cases of eczema, water is an irritant. But in the case of barber's itch the application of hot water from five to ten minutes twice a day, followed by antiseptic ointments such as zinc oxide ointment, boracic acid ointment, or Lassar's paste, is one of the treatments that is given in the text books on skin disorders.

Mrs. M.—Have you ever counted the caloric values of the food you eat? Most under weight persons, even those who think they eat a lot, frequently have too few calories for their needs.

Send the self-addressed, stamped envelope and four cents in stamps to me in care of this paper, and we will send you the instructions on gaining.

Especially in hot ...er, women will not bother ...roning when they can use ... which can be merely ...l and shaken out."

...ther words, women are be- ... more and more sensible' ... the use of tiring oneself in warm weather by needless ironing?

Of course crepe clothes will not do for all occasions. But they are excellent for use about the house. Dresses, corset covers, envelope chemise, petticoats, nightgowns and aprons can be made of cotton crepe or searsucker with a saving in both expense and labor.

Now is the time to begin making these summer garments. I am going to tell you about a serpentine crepe apron which I have just originated for my use about the house. For two aprons I bought three yards of sage-green serpentine cotton crepe (35 cents a yard). This goods comes 29 inches wide. To make one apron I cut one long strip (full width) which measured one and one-third yards in length. At one end of this strip I sewed a five-inch band of flowered rose-colored cretonne; this banded part formed the bottom of the apron in front.

I next held the strip of green crepe up against myself and marked my waist-line with a pin, then I gathered the goods completely across at this point and sewed a two-inch wide strip of the same figured cretonne right on over the gathers. This left about seven inches of the green crepe above the waistline, and I finally decided to gather this left-over bib part at the extreme top and bind it with a narrow strip of the cretonne. I then made two long, inch-wide strips of cretonne to come across my shoulders, fastening one at either corner of the apron top in front; in the back, these two streamers crossed each other in a big X, and buttoned onto the waistband of the apron, which came directly under each arm.

In order to make myself still plainer I will say that there is no back to this apron at all, except the two narrow streamers (or straps) of cretonne which are crossed in the middle of my back. But the apron covers the entire front of me (the part which gets splattered in cooking and washing) from the hem of my skirt to within five inches of my shoulders. Its dark color keeps it from showing every speck of dust—yet it is cheery-looking because of the bright cretonne.

THE ANEMIC GIRL

So many girls write to me, asking for the secret of popularity, complaining that they are friendless or that they lack ability to approach people, to impress their personality upon others.

I'm not talking now of the self-conscious girl. That's another malady entirely. The self-conscious girl also thinks herself friendless, and often fails to impress her personality upon others. But her fault is fear of talking or laughing. This other type of girl is not over-bashful, she simply is too tired or too weak to make the effort of sociability.

The anemic girl has a real problem, which no mental effort will help. She must have rest to gain poise and strength to mingle with other and energetic people. It's all that, a question of good health.

This is a long preface to a simple suggestion for the thin and aenemic girl. There is nothing quite so good as cod liver oil, if you can take it. But that's the problem. It smells and tastes so badly that most of us shiver away from it. Nor do the preparations that eliminate its badness keep its best virtues.

But you can take it one way—with grapefruit juice. Pour a little grapefruit juice into a glass, pour in a tablespoonful of cod liver oil and gulp. The acid of the fruit quite does away with the taste of the oil. Then eat some grapefruit afterwards. There won't be a bit of the taste in your mouth or throat. Do this twice a day, morning and night. The fat and nourishment and the energy in the oil will do wonders in building you up.

Anxious—At forty years of age no woman should consider herself old. Your habitual constipation would have a bad effect upon your skin, accounting for this withered look. Eat more green vegetables and drink plenty of water.

Massage into the skin of face and throat a nourishing cream every day. After this treatment close the pores by dashing very cold water on the skin.

Particular Girl — Granulated eyelids should be treated by a doctor. You cannot cure such a condition through simple experiments with home remedies.

Eyelashes—I will be glad to mail you the eyelash formula upon receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope.

E. V. D.—At no age is a person too old to cultivate the hair. I shall be glad to mail you a tonic formula that will not discolor your gray hair, if you send an addressed, stamped envelope.

Minnie Z.—Lemon juice applied to corns every night will sometimes cure them entirely, but if not it will always relieve them of sensitiveness.

Side Talks

FAMILY FINANCES

They are going to be married this June. The girl has been in business for several years, and is very intelligent and thrifty. The man admires her as much as he loves her. Which seemed to be an altogether satisfactory thing. Until the other day, when we commented upon it and the Girl said: "I'm glad he can admire me, if he does. But I hope he won't presume on that admiration to the extent of taking advantage of it." Which we didn't understand, until she explained:

"Frankly, it worries me a little. You see, he seems to admire me so much that he is expecting almost impossible things of me. I'm afraid. For instance, there's the matter of our income. You know, of course, that Bob is just starting out in his profession and we will have to be very careful of our pennies for a while. I'm glad to help him through the lean days; but do you know Bob seems to think that I'm so thrifty and know the value of money so well that I can make just any amount cover whatever expenses there may happen to be, and that he will not have to worry—or help.

"I don't want him to worry, and I really don't think that it will be necessary if he will help. But one member of a partnership can't save alone, you know. A penny saved in one department won't take care of a dollar wasted in another—I've learned that in business. And so you see why my reputation for being careful and a good manager is beginning to look to me as though it might be dangerous!"

Only a modern girl, the product of modern economic conditions, would have thought of that, it seems to me. But it is a point that all prospective husbands (and many who entered the partnership in other Junes) may well consider and provide for.

No man would be willing to slave interminably at his office to save expenses and to get ahead if his partner in the business was squandering the savings—or even was thoughtless and careless in the way he spent them. Yet all too often that same man will expect his wife, or at least will permit his wife to scrimp and save and do without for the sake of the new home, or the imminent payment on the insurance, or the needed furniture, or even the monthly bills for current expenses, without making any effort to do his part. He may not, indeed, squander money recklessly. But I think it must be even more tantalizing and discouraging if he merely wastes money in the little ways where he could easily do his share of the family saving.

This is one of those financial problems that have deep roots in almost every family of moderate means and are productive of more unhappiness and lack of harmony I do believe, than much more serious matters. So I asked The Girl, who is so modernly efficient, how she thought the difficulty could be avoided. And she proved her capableness, I think, when she answered:

"Substitute fairness for unfairness in the distribution of the family finances, my dear. I am working out our budget now on the basis of Bob's income. When it is ready I shall show him its fairness and wisdom, and necessity and ask him to accept it as the business basis of our partnership. Of course he will, because his intentions are perfectly right—it is only his dependence upon my thrift and his own careless extravagance that are dangerous, you know. And then he will know exactly how much he is fairly entitled to spend. I'm marrying to be a partner, not a martyr, you see!"

Glendale Industrial Exposition

MAY 25th to JUNE 3rd, 1923

The huge model of Glendale is now nearing completion and will be installed in the Glendale Industrial Exhibition in time for the opening on May 25th. Every detail that is possible to emphasize Glendale as the fastest growing city in America and the most desirable place in which to live, is being included in this monster work.

I desire to take this opportunity of thanking all who supplied plans and data for the completeness of this work, but also wish to remind those who have interests in Glendale and who have not yet sent in the data necessary to include their property on the model, that they should act promptly as the time is now very short, and to avoid disappointment at not seeing their interests on this model as unveiled, would advise that they get in touch with me by telephone or arrange to inspect the model while under construction, for which purpose visitors may come to my studio on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, May 14, 15 and 16, from 6:30 to 9:00 o'clock.

This model of Glendale will be the last word in model construction and nothing like it shown on the Pacific Coast since my large model of the city of New York, which took the Gold Medal at the Panama Pacific International Exhibition, San Francisco, in 1915.

TODAY—Ancient Indian relics just uncovered in Nevada indicate surprising resemblance to old hieroglyphics of Asia, writes E. J. Greenwalt, special correspondent at Reno.

MONDAY—No limit to Los Angeles' possibilities as future great port, predicts New York financier visiting there, writes William G. Cayce, Los Angeles correspondent.

By E. J. GREENWALT
For International News Service

WINNEMUCA, Nev., May 12.—Nevada's interest in the family life of King Tut, of the Valley of the Kings, shifted to the sand dunes of Winnemuca when workmen recently plowed up the skeleton of a great Indian chief of Nevada antiquity, buried with the relics of his ancient race.

Within the ancient burial ground, opened when a huge sand dune was being leveled, were stone tablets bearing strange heiroglyphics, rude implements of warfare, unfamiliar cooking utensils, many beautiful seashells such as would have been worn only by a chieftain of rank, and a greater array of flint spear and arrow heads that has ever been found since white settlements were established here.

Archaeological interest centers in the strange stone tablets, for time's devastating hand has effaced much which might have been preserved to a curious posterity had the ancient Nevada tribes used the same care of the dead as is found in the preservation of the Egyptian Pharoahs.

Ethnologists who have studied the picture writings on the rock walls of Nevada mountains, placed centuries ago by unknown races, have discovered a striking similarity with certain rock writings of Asia.

The scholar Von Humboldt, after long studies in Nevada and the west, said: "It appears most evident to me that the monuments, methods of computing time, systems of cosmogony, and the many myths of America, offer striking analogies with the ideas of western Asia—ideas which indicate an ancient communication and are not simply the result of that uniform condition in which all nations are found in that gray dawn of civilization."

Discoveries made in this region may or may not give affirmation to the Humboldtian hypothesis, yet the lure of the unknown is in the blood of the rancher who uncovered the bones of the chieftain and further excavations of the dunes are to be started immediately.

Professor J. C. Jones, archaeologist, and Professor B. F. Schappellet, ethnologist, both of the University of Nevada, intend to investigate the discovery.

Instead of the "Rev. Mr." mentioned in innumerable wedding announcements, it was the Rev. Miss Norman Brown who performed the wedding ceremony when Miss Helen L. She comes from a family of clergymen and has the distinction of having been the only woman minister in the Illinois state senate, an office she held two years ago.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— By Howard R. Garis —

UNCLE WIGGILY HELPS JACKIE

Once upon a time, as Uncle Wiggily was hopping through the woods, the old rabbit gentleman saw Jackie Bow Wow, the little puppy dog boy.

"Hello, Jackie!" called Mr. Longears in his most jolly voice.

"Oh, hello!" barked Jackie in answer, but it was not a joyful bark.

"Why, Jackie! What's the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who saw a glum, unhappy look on the puppy chap's face.

"Oh, I got to go to the store," replied Jackie in a grillery-growlery sort of a voice, "and I want to play ball with Johnnie and Billie Bushytail. I don't want to go to the store!"

"For whom are you going?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Did Mrs. Wibble-wobble, the lady duck, give you a penny to go to the store for her?"

"No, Uncle Wiggily," growled Jackie; "I'm going to the store for my mother, and she didn't give me a penny, either."

"Oh," spoke the bunny rabbit gentleman. "But perhaps she is going to give you some of whatever you are to get at the store. How about that? What are you going to get?"

"Molasses," grumbled Jackie, "and——"

"Oh, ho! I see!" laughed Uncle Wiggily, before Jackie had a chance to answer, "your mother is going to make either molasses cake or molasses candy and she will surely give you some. That's just as good as a penny—even better, I think."

"She's going to make molasses cake," said Jackie, and his voice wasn't quite as grillery-growlery as at first. "I s'pose she'll give me some—she always does, but ——"

"It must be fine to have a mother who makes molasses cake," politely interrupted Uncle Wiggily. "Do you think, Jackie," he went on, "if I went to the store in your place, letting you play ball—do you think your mother would give me a piece of molasses cake,"

"I'm sure she would!" exclaimed Jackie quickly. "And I'll give you the piece she'll give me, too. Will you go to the store for me, Uncle Wiggily, and let me go play ball?"

Jackie was laughing now.

"Yes, I'll go to the store," kindly offered the bunny gentleman, so Jackie gave Mr. Longears the money for the molasses and the little tin pail in which to get the sweet, sticky stuff.

"Now, to play ball!" barked Jackie, joyously, and away he rushed through the woods on the way to the ball field. But he had not gone far before he turned back and called:

"Thank you, Uncle Wiggily! I almost forgot!"

"Oh, that's all right!" chuckled the bunny gentleman. Then he hopped on to the store, where he bought the can of molasses. Uncle Wiggily was half-way back to Mrs. Bow Wow's house on the path that passed not far from the animal boys' ball field, when, all of a sudden, the rabbit gentleman heard a voice saying:

"Oh, dear! I'm caught! I can't get loose and they'll think I ran away with the ball! Oh, such trouble!"

At first Uncle Wiggily thought the voice might be that of the Fox or Wolf, but after a moment or two the bunny gentleman said:

"No, they wouldn't speak of a ball. This must be one of the animal boys." Looking through the bushes, Uncle Wiggily saw Jackie Bow Wow, caught by one paw in the crack of a fallen log. "Why, Jackie, what is the matter?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I ran over in these woods, to get a ball that Sammie Littletail knocked," whined Jackie, "and my paw slipped. It is caught in the crack of the log and I can't pull it out."

"I'll help," offered Uncle Wiggily. But, pull as he and Jackie did, they could not get the doggie's paw loose. And, all the while, the animal boys over in the ball field were calling:

"Hurry, Jackie! Hurry! Throw in the ball! Throw in the ball!"

"I can't! I'm caught and I can't get loose!" whined Jackie. "Oh, do you think you can ever get me out?" he asked Uncle Wiggily, who was pulling away as hard as he could.

"Yes, Jackie," answered the rabbit gentleman suddenly. "I have it! The molasses! I'll pour some molasses around the place where your paw is caught in the crack, and that will make the log slippery so it will be easier to pull you out." No sooner said than done.

When some of the molasses had been poured into the crack it was easy for Jackie to pull out his paw. He caught up the ball, rushed back to the field and threw it, and just in time to put out Sammie Littletail, and thus Jackie won the game for his side.

"Thank you again, for helping me, Uncle Wiggily!" barked the puppy dog boy on the way home with the molasses.

"Pray don't mention it," said the bunny politely. "I am always glad to help." And if the little puppy dog doesn't lose the hair ribbon from his tail so he can't go to the moving pictures, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the ragged doll.

SCIENCE and INVENTION

BREATHING SMOKE

A steam locomotive produces large quantities of smoke which contains noxious gases. When a train is about to pass through a long tunnel, the conductor orders all windows shut. Even so, more or less of the smoke is likely to invade the coaches, causing discomfort to the pasengers.

If they are rendered uncomfortable, how must it be with the engineer and firemen in the engine cab? The hot smoke and exhaust steam direct from the stack envelop the cab and fill it with hot, choking gases. Meanwhile the temperature, in passing through the tunnel may run up to 160 degrees or higher.

The gases in locomotive smoke are poisonous and asphyxiating. Now and then it happens that enginemen are overcome by them. In a number of recorded instances they have died in consequence. If a train happens to be stalled in a poorly ventilated tunnel, the danger is very serious. The trouble is particularly bad when slow, heavy freights are going up grade through a tunnel.

The roof of the tunnel deflects the smoke from the stack upon and around the locomotive. Mixed with air and exhaust steam, it enters the cab and surrounds the engineer and fireman with a hot, vitiated atmosphere. One of the gases contained in the smoke is the deadly carbon monoxide, which, intensified in its effect by high temperature, is in such cases the probable cause of collapse or of death.

To remedy this trouble, the bureau of mines has recently been making a series of experiments. It was found that the ordinary army gas mask might be used to advantage by enginemen in tunnels, giving good protection. But most of the men are not willing to bother with such apparatus, preferring to tie handkerchiefs over their noses and mouths. A satisfactory solution of the problem, however, is afforded by a newly developed "smoke respirator," which is small enough to be carried in a coat pocket.

The men are glad to use these respirators, so conveniently carried and readily employed. A "pocket canister" of this type contains an absorbent mixture of charcoal and soda-lime, with a filter of Turkish toweling. It weighs only a few ounces, and may be comfortably held between the teeth for breathing, while an attached loop of wire clasps the nose and closes the nostrils.

Judge Urges Whipping Post for Wife Beater

ATLANTA, Ga., May 12.—A cry for the ancient Georgia statute providing thirty lashes on the bare back of any person convicted of wife beating went up from Recorder George E. Johnson in open court when C. L. New, railroad switchman, admitted he had not only maltreated his helpmate but had driven her and their four children out into a storm at 2 o'clock in the morning. New admitted he was drunk.

"Fines and imprisonment won't work for fellows like you!" stormed Judge Johnson in passing sentence. "We used to have a law that would cover your case, and I wish to goodness I could invoke that old statute right now. Thirty lashes would teach you a lesson!"

But the sentence was only $10 and costs.

USE FISH FOR CANDLE

A smelt-like fish called eulachon by the Siwash Indians, of Alaska, when dried, can be used for a candle. The fish is very oily and the Indians render the oil from the body of the fish by means of heated rocks. This oil is used for cooking during the long winters.

RADIO

BY FRANK CHAPMAN

LOUD SPEAKERS

When the average fan thinks of a loud speaker he pictures it connected to his set, making signals so much stronger and enjoying the program without wearing telephones. That is all very well, but the average "loud speaker" isn't what the public have been led to believe. To successfully operate a loud speaker requires amplification, and in most cases one step is not sufficient, most of them requiring two. Unless one has a power amplifier the volume entering it must be loud enough so that it can be heard from the ordinary telephone when held several inches from the ear. Signals must be very strong to operate the usual loud speaker, which in most cases is nothing more than a horn to which a telephone is connected.

The loud speaker which is to reproduce all the musical instruments and all the voices that may be sent over the radio, must contain all the qualities of all the different voices and instruments to be able to reproduce all sounds without any of its own characteristics. Thus far, no loud speaker has fully achieved this perfection. Any instrument possessing a horn will have its own characteristic sounds.

In choosing a loud speaker, as in other things, it depends upon what type of radio programs you desire to listen to most. Some loud speakers will faithfully reproduce the voice, but fall down on some musical instruments; others will not function unless the signal is very strong. (This class is those employing a telephone receiver and a horn.) Most of them will reproduce a pure note and fail to properly reproduce a low-pitched one and vice versa.

Similar to a phonograph, do not sit close to a loud speaker for best results, unless, of course, the signals are weak. Personally, I have never listened over a loud speaker that compared with signals received on a good pair of telephones. In fact, I would rather entertain with several pairs of telephones than on a loud speaker as I have often heard such expressions as "That's not as good as a phonograph," when coming over a loud speaker. Another thing that spoils loud speakers is the poor quality of modulation of the transmitting stations. Good microphones are patented and some of them (the manufacturers) say, "If you don't use my transmitting set you cannot use my microphone."

Another factor in choosing your loud speaker is, where are you going to use it, in an ordinary room at home, in a hall or outdoors? The first place does not require one giving great volume, but you do want quality. If used in halls or outdoors, you want one that can be heard a great distance, because everyone cannot crowd around the set. A power amplifier is required for this work and is one in which the signals are greatly increased by means of batteries, transformers and audions or a combination of these. The latter type is expensive, ranging from $45 to $160.

Some types of loud speakers are shown in the cuts and consist of phonograph attachments, those employing a telephone receiver and power amplifiers employing vacuum tubes and storage batteries.

It appears to me that before the ideal loud speaker is developed manufacturers will have to do just as phonograph makers did, get away from the tin horn affair and build a regular sound box. You never see a horn on a high-priced phonograph.

Formality in Church Scored by Minister

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 12. — Conventional ministers, satisfied with little essays on modern socialism and untouched by great, deep passions of salvation, are "nothing more than animated scarecrows in the pulpit," declared Rev. Dr. George Hugh Birney, Cleveland, addressing a local audience, opposing formality in worship.

"Formality is an evidence of spiritual death," asserted Rev. Dr. Birney. "It makes the altar a coffin and the church a corpse. If Christianity had been one tithe as much interested in building itself into the hearts of men as it had been in building monuments to itself in cathedrals of stone and brick, the World War never would have been fought."

RADIO INTERFERENCE

A radio outlaw within a radius of 200 miles of Paris persists in interrupting the broadcasting of concerts from Eiffel Tower. He broadcasts jazz music and insolent or frivolous messages and is evidently a practical joker. His transmission is a powerful one, and he commands as great a wave length as the Eiffel Tower.

Runaway Halted Just As Movie Men Do It

FRANKFORT, Ind., May 12.—It happens in real life, as well as in the movies. A team hitched to an ice wagon ran away and made a wild dash down Jackson street. Paul Matthews pursued in an automobile driven by Chalmer Stingley. Stingley piloted his car close to the swaying wagon and Matthews leaped. He caught the rear end of the wagon and clambered over the cakes of ice to the driver's seat. The lines were dragging on the ground. Undaunted, Matthews made his way out on the wagon tongue between the plunging animals, grasped their bits, pulled their heads together and brought them to a stop.

Rockefeller Gift for New Church in Tokio

TOKIO, May 12.—The gift of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., of $2,500 to the Tokio Union church, cabled the erection here soon of a $40,000 structure, P. P. W. Ziemann, to Japan recently, makes certain pastor of the church, announced. Rockefeller's gift practically completes the sum needed.
